Four Vie For Three Village Board Seats

by PATTY KOROM

The race for village board is off and running as contenders for three Antioch Village Board seats were required to file by Monday.

Four Antioch residents have filed petitions for the upcoming April election. Three of the contenders are incumbents and include Donald Amundson, Mabel Lou Weber and Robert Wilton.

The lone new contestant in the race for village board is Lyle Wilson.

Wilson is a member of the planning commission and has served as chairman for the past four years.

Wilson's decision to run was based on what he sees as a need for change in the local board.

"The village needs a new face on the board," Wilson said.

Ballot positions will be announced on Thursday, Jan. 29 because Wilton and Amundson filed at the same time. Wilson will be placed last on the ballot and Weber will be third. The lottery will be for first and second places on the ballot.

Hear Re-Zoning Bid For Shopping Area

by PATTY KOROM

A proposed strip shopping center on Rte. 173 and 83 has many downtown business owners up in arms.

A fact sheet mailed under the Antioch Chamber of Commerce letterhead listed four concerns with the new center.

In a conversation with Chamber President, Larry Hanson, he said that the fact sheet was sent to Chamber members to inform them of an upcoming meeting but that the views stated in the letter were not necessarily the views of the Chamber.

The center, located just west of the new Hardees and Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants, would be named "Towne Square" and would provide about 41,500 square feet of retail space.

The developers, Horizon Development of Schaumburg have requested that the property be re-zoned to accommodate their plans. The hearing will be held on Feb. 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the village hall.

Many of the downtown businessmen believe that the strip center will fragment Antioch's businesses. Another concern is that there are already empty stores in Antioch and this development would only create more.

According to Hanson, manager of B.J.'s, "It could hurt the T.I.F. Dist. The community has spent a lot of money and time developing the downtown area. There are enough empty stores in Antioch already."

Stuart Lenhoff, spokesman for Horizon Developers said, "We are not trying to compete with the downtown area, we are trying to complement it."

Lenhoff went on to explain that the stores that they intend to bring into Antioch are not the type to consider locating in renovated stores like those in the downtown area.

"We are in the process of negotiating a lease with Walgreens", Lenhoff said, "that will be our anchor store."

Hanson feels that the downtown area could support a Walgreens store, saying "Are they saying that our downtown couldn't support a Walgreens? I feel that we can."

The point is, Walgreens would rather locate a store in a new complex on a main intersection.

"Walgreens came into Antioch and did a survey, they chose not to locate in the downtown area," Lenhoff said. "They had already picked the location at Rtes. 173 and 83 before we even purchased the land contingent upon re-zoning."

Bill Patterson, owner of B.J.'s, is concerned about the traffic congestion that would be created with the development.

"The location is going to be very congested with the high school, the fast food chains and a strip shopping center. And then if they add the proposed hotel or motel, it will be too much traffic."

The issue will possibly be resolved at the Feb. 4 meeting. According to Lenhoff, the village will have to present a strong technical case to deny the re-zoning of the property.

More Arrests Made In Beating, Stabbing Rap

by GLORIA DAVIS

Two more Twin Lakes men have been arrested and charged with aggravated battery in the beating and stabbing of Robert Baker, Lake Villa and Randy Knackstedt, Antioch, on Wilmot Rd. in Spring Grove on Jan. 8.

The McHenry County Sheriff's Dept., with the aid of the Twin Lakes Police Dept., arrested Alexander K. O'Connell, 28, at his residence in Twin Lakes on Thursday, Jan. 22.

O'Connell at press time is being held in the Kenosha County jail on $100,000 cash bond awaiting extradition proceedings.

On that same day, McHenry County also arrested Larry Brown, 28, also from Twin Lakes, at his place of employment in Spring Grove, Intermatic Corp.. He has been charged with the same crime and is being held in McHenry County also under $100,000 cash bond.

Last week the third man arrested for the stabbings, Daniel Fisher, 26, Twin Lakes, was released on a $5,000 cash bond by a Kenosha County Court and is due for another appearance in Kenosha County Court on the charges on Feb. 16.

AUGs To Host Parent-Principal Coffee, Feb. 4

A parent-principal coffee will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 10 a.m., at the Antioch Upper Grade School.

Any parent interested in finding out about their child's school program is asked to call the school office by Monday, Feb. 2, to inform the school of an intent to attend the coffee.

The group size will be kept small so a more informal discussion may take place.

Davis Takes Helm As Development Director

by PATTY KOROM

Antioch's new community development director, Don Davis, has begun to operate out of his new quarters in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Davis took over as development director on Jan. 12 and is excited about the potential of the community.

"Antioch has the most potential of any community that I have seen so far," he said.

Davis's workload will be split between re-development and new development. He expects to have a job description that, by the end of the week, will include: special projects as designated by the Mayor and the T.I.F. committee, staff support to the planning commission, zoning board, redevelopment commission and the village board.

"About 50 percent of my time could be spent on T.I.F. project," Davis said. That should be something that Davis would enjoy as he wrote the equivalent of a master's thesis on T.I.F. Districts.

Davis indicated that under his direction, the community will seek balanced and planned growth.

Another part of the job that Davis is looking forward to is soliciting developers and seeking government funds through grantwriting.

Name Anderson Award Recipient

by PATTY KOROM

Carol Anderson, owner of the Advertiser, was named as recipient of the Athena Award during the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's annual Dinner Dance on Jan. 24.

The award is given each year to a businesswoman in recognition of outstanding contributions to civic, social and professional improvements in the Antioch area.

Anderson has lived in Antioch for the past 30 years and has been associated with the Advertiser since 1954.

She took full control of the Advertiser in 1982 when her father, Hillard "Toby" Tobieski, retired.

She has been involved with the PM&L Theatre, the Emmons School Fashion Show, the Antioch Women's Club and the Mental Health Coalition.

Anderson also participates, through representatives, in the Lions Club, the Rotary Club, the Antioch Rescue Squad, the Jaycees, St. Peters Church, the Methodist Church and is a past board member of the Girl Scouts.

The award was accepted on Anderson's behalf by daughter Kim as Anderson was in Maui, Hawaii, at the time.

In a telephone conversation Anderson said, "I am very honored and very thankful to Raymond Chevy and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry for having chosen me to receive the award."

New Chamber board members were also named at the dinner. The following people were named to the board of directors: Henry J. Schmidt of Realty World-Tiffany; Phil Dahl, of Kirkpatrick & Dahl P.C. Certified Public Accountants; Marvin Oldenburger, senior vice president, First National Bank of Antioch; and JoAnne Blinker, owner of J.J. Blinker.

Members retaining their positions on the Chamber board include: Florence Babusek, Ray Scarpelli, Jr., Stan Luta and Cathy Galdine. Larry Hanson will remain president during the upcoming year.

There were 152 present for the dinner dance, a number that Hanson was pleased with.

"It was a great turn out," Hanson said, "They braved the cold to come out and join us, it was really great."

Century 21 Dinner To Aid Easter Seals

Century 21 Michael Warren & Co. is preparing for their third annual Auction and Dinner-Dance to benefit Easter Seals.

The event is scheduled for April 26 and will be held at the Country House in Antioch.

Raising funds for Easter Seals has long been a favorite project of the Century 21 Michael Warren staff.

Last year the group was named the number one fundraiser for both 1985 and '86 in the Century 21 Northern Region and placed ninth in the nation out of 6,500 Century 21 offices.

Total funds raised by the group exceeded $9,300.

Donations received from the benefit are used locally to help people with disabilities reach their full potential.

"We want to thank everyone for their past support and are looking forward to seeing one and all this year," said Michael Warren. "Plan to come by and join the fun while supporting Easter Seals at the same time."

Fire Calls Up For 1986

The total number of calls answered by the department in both the village and the district totaled 269.

"Things were busier then the past two or three years," said Fire Chief Todd Maplethorpe. "But there were not as many major problems."

The dollar loss for fires within the village totaled $22,100 and in the district, $388,150.

According to Maplethorpe, the heavy dollar losses in the district can be attributed to three major fires; The Lodge, located on Grass Lake Road; the old Channel Lake Boat House and a vacant building on Rte.173.

Other statistics released by the department include: Classifications: inspections, 64; investigations, 10; burn downs three; mutual aid, 11; underwater recovery, 10; average manpower per call, 23.

Types of calls responded to include: structure, 56; vehicle, 24; false alarms, 25; gas leaks, 48; trash, nine; grass, 39; and miscellaneous, 47.

Maplethorpe is looking forward to purchasing some new equipment this year to go with the departments Hurst tool. The tool is used to open wrecked automobiles and, according to Maplethorpe, is often referred to as the "jaws of life."

Dining/Entertainment

Andres On The Bay Ready To Open Feb. 6

Lakeland's newest restaurant, Andres on the Bay, will open for business on Friday, Feb. 6, after nearly a year's construction on the shore of Myers Bay, Fox Lake.

Andres is home port of the Island Queen, a paddlewheel "steamer" that was commissioned for Chain O'Lakes cruising last year.

Andres on the Bay is owned and operated by Ernie and Barbara Andres, who will combine management and operation with Andres of Richmond, a northern Illinois dining and entertainment landmark for more than a quarter of a century.

Featuring a menu with 40 entrees, Andres on the Bay will stress a variety of seafood and steaks, according to general manager Jim Shannon, whose restaurant management background includes experience with a national chain and a gourmet restaurant in San Antonio, Texas.

Open seven days a week for lunch and dinner, Shannon said that salads and sandwiches also will be available in the evening.

Two separate dining areas will have seating for 90 persons. When weather permits, a deck with seating for 60 persons will be opened. One of the dining areas will be adorned by a fountain surrounded by greenery.

The bar area was intentionally downsized. Besides customary beverages, Andres on the Bay will be well-stocked with a variety of non-alcoholic beverages to cater to changing tastes, Shannon pointed out.

Located at 501 S. Park Ave., off Rte. 12, Andres on the Bay has distinctive New England salt box architecture with an attractive setting on a bluff that overlooks the bay where boats and the Island Queen are moored.

"When the Island Queen is launched again in spring, we'll have an official grand opening—probably in April," remarked Shannon, a lanky bearded young man who grew up in Richmond.

Finishing touches now are being put on a second floor banquet room which will have facilities for 175 persons.

Andres on the Bay in recent years was operated as the Rusty Anchor, a popular resort and boating center. Before that, it was Ehmann's Resort, owned and operated by the Ehmanns when it catered to fishermen and weekend family picnickers.

Shannon marveled at the transformation of the place. "We started out to remodel. As work progressed, work became more involved to the point where the place has been totally rebuilt," Shannon stated.

One reminder of the past is the large stone fireplace that will be a distinctive feature of the banquet center, that once was the centerpiece of the Ehmann's living room.

When weather permits, extensive landscaping will be completed and the parking lot will be paved.

Mayan Treasures

Museum To Feature 300 Mayan Treasures

Magnificent Maya treasures will be displayed at the Milwaukee Public Museum March 21 through May 17. The exhibit, "Cenote of Sacrifice: Maya Treasures from the Sacred Well of Chichen Itza," is a collaborative project of the Peabody Museum at Harvard University and the Science Museum of Minnesota, with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The exhibit features 300 of the finest Maya artifacts recovered from the famous sacrificial well in the Yucatan Peninsula in southern Mexico. The specimens include gold, copper, jade, stone, pottery, wood, rubber, and textile artifacts retrieved from the sinkhole 70 years ago. The eminent Mayanist, the late Alfred M. Tozzer, said of the discoveries: "There is perhaps no single collection in New World archaeology that has afforded so comprehensive a view of the aesthetic life of an ancient people."

In addition to the objects, "Cenote of Sacrifice" offers an interpretive view of the Maya of Chichen Itza. Attractive graphics, giant photo-murals, a multi-screen slide presentation, and computer terminals assist the viewer in understanding Maya mathematics and calendars.

To accompany the exhibit, the museum will sponsor a series of lectures, films and demonstrations on various aspects of Maya life. A unique opportunity to tour the major Maya sites in Mexico, Guatemala and Honduras with Museum Anthropologist Carter Lupton will be offered in April, 1987.

"Cenote of Sacrifice" is being brought to Milwaukee by the Friends of the Museum, Inc., the support organization for the Milwaukee Public Museum. Because of the expense of bringing the exhibit to Milwaukee, a $1 fee will be charged for the exhibit in addition to regular admission. For more information, call (414) 278-2702.

Sky Diving Team To Jump At Fishing Derby

The 27th annual Ice Fishing Derby and Winter Festival to be held on Feb. 14 and 15 will feature the Anheuser-Busch Sky Diving Team.

The event is sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club (NICC). According to publicity chairman, Charles Kempf, the team will be flown in from Florida and will possibly perform at all three sites.

The derby is NCC's main fund-raising event and proceeds will enable the club to continue with projects that are conservation oriented in the Chain O' Lakes area.

Thousands of people are expected to participate in this year's derby. Planned along with the popular fishing contests are many family events, providing something for everyone to do.

This year will feature 18 major prizes valued at over $5,000 as well as 480 hourly prizes. There are 10 main prizes available for the hourly fishing contests and over 4,000 previously tagged fish and 500 new tagged fish each worth a minimum of $25 each.

Tag number 78 is attached with a $1,000 cash prize and is attached to a legal size muskie sponsored by the NICC. It's value is good anytime throughout the year when caught by some lucky angler.

This year's hourly prizes are sponsored by Rinella Beverage Co., distributors of Budweiser and Coca Cola Bottling Co. of Chicago. The 500 tagged new fish are sponsored by the State Bank of Antioch and all previously tagged fish by NICC.

Other derby prizes are being donated by the following supporters: Chain O' Lakes travel Service; Wasz's Playtime Resorts; West Shore Marine, McHenry; BJ's Sports Center; Biller press ' Mfg.; Pederson Bros. GMC; C. Haling ' Sons; Rinella Beverage Co.; Holiday Park, Ingleside; Murphy Excavating; State Bank of Antioch; Andrew Lynch ' Assoc.; Strang Funeral Home; Triangle Sports and Marine; First National Bank of Antioch; Norshore Resort and Diemer Plumbing and Heating.

Headquarters for this year's derby will be on Channel Lake with satellites on Pistakee and Petite Lake.

Affair To Benefit St. Therese

Tickets are going fast for Saint Therese Medical Center's annual "An Affair of the Heart" charity gala.

The Feb. 7 fundraiser, benefiting the Saint Therese Janssen Foundation, will be held at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort Hotel. Tickets are $50 per person and special table prices range from $500 to $10,000 for this black tie optional event.

Cocktails will begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner following at 7:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by Stanley Paul and his orchestra.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pavelski of Antioch and Dr. and Mrs. Van Nuys of Lake Bluff. A silent auction will also be conducted this year, with Libertyville artist Dan Bleck coordinating the wonderful paintings.

There will be 14 honorees at this year's gala event, including former Waukegan News-Sun publisher Richard Kennedy of Gurnee. Other honorees include: Walter Cherry of Winnetka, Mohammed Siddique, M.D. of Lake Forest, Sister Kathleen Kane S.S.P.S. of Techny, Kevin Downs of Chicago, Al Wysocki of Round Lake, John Curns, M.D. of Libertyville, John Bunge of Park City, Sister Priscilla Burke, S.S.P.S. of Saint Joseph Community Hospital in Iowa, Ray Camosy of Kenosha, Manoochehr Sharifi, M.D. of Waukegan, David Martin Heinrich of Lake Forest, Dr. E.R. Abderholden of Antioch, and Sister Margaret Ann Norris S.S.P.S.

This event has been held at the Marriott Hotel for the past two years. It started out as a special evening designed to bring together doctors, religious figures, business leaders and employees. However, because the needs are so great it was decided to use it as a fundraiser to benefit the needy.

The Saint Therese Janssen

Foundation, founded in 1982, is the fundraising affiliate of Saint Therese Medical Center. Its primary purpose is to provide funding for the hospital to fulfill its unique mission: a Catholic philosophy, providing service to all, regardless of background and ability to pay, and in its respect for the dignity of the human being and the sacredness of every stage of life.

The two key recipients of the Janssen Foundation are at opposite ends of the life process. One is to help protect life with a program for the single woman in a pregnancy crisis, and the other is to help ease the process of dying through Hospice, a program for the family members as well as patients.

For ticket information, or to make a donation, call Director of Corporate Development, Helene Denney at (312) 360-2171.

Johnson will start by predicting the card an audience member will pull from a deck, or he will guess someone's birthday.

While blindfolded he will then identify objects placed on a tray from which he supposedly feels vibrations.

His finally always brings down the house as he passes cards to the audience on which he asks people to write something and then seal the cards in a furnished envelope.

He then reveals what is inside without opening a single envelope.

For more information, contact the Tower Room at (312) 395-1193.

Schmidt To Switch And Fight As Republican

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

Lake Villa Twp. Trustee Suzi Schmidt has informed Lakeland Newspapers that she may run for the Lake County Board in the 1988 Republican primary. "I am considering it very seriously. There is a better than 50 percent chance that I will run for the county board in the Republican primary in March, 1988."

Mrs. Schmidt is switching political parties to facilitate her impending county board campaign. She has submitted her resignation as a Lake Villa Twp. Democratic precinct committeeman. Last year, Schmidt contemplated a race against State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa). But financial considerations discouraged her candidacy.

Two years ago, she was elected Twp. Trustee on Supervisor Dorothy Thompson's Township Improvement Party (TIP), which ousted the Fred Popp administration from office. If Schmidt is elected to the county board next year, she will be compelled to resign from the Twp. Board. Under Illinois statute, the only township official who may serve on the county board is the supervisor. Twp. Trustee Schmidt's term expires in April, 1989.

Besides her township responsibilities, Schmidt has been Lindenhurst Director of Recreation since July, 1988.

Previously, she served as co-director for the Lindenhurst recreation program for four-and-a-half years. Schmidt indicated that she will resign her Lindenhurst recreational position if she is elected to the Lake County Board. "I don't feel that I could do Lindenhurst justice by being a county board member and running the recreation program full-time," Schmidt claimed.

The 35-year-old rural Lake Villa resident will oppose Dist. 4 County Board Representatives Fred Popp of Lake Villa and Jim Fields of Antioch. Dist. 4 includes Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twps. in western Lake County. It is a solid GOP region with a bounty on Democrats. The Republican primary is tantamount to the election. Schmidt criticized both Popp and Fields, stating, "I just think it's time for change out in this district." She maintained that she "would expect"

Dist. 4 Rep. Norm Geary of Grayslake to endorse her county board candidacy.

Both Fields and Popp are regular Republicans who opposed Norm Geary's election to the county board chairmanship in 1984 and 1986. Geary is the leader of independent Republicans on the county board. Most political observers anticipate that Geary will mobilize the Avon Twp. vote against both Fields and Popp in the 1988 March primary.

Frederick Offers 8 Scholarships

State Representative Virginia Fiester Frederick (R-Lake Forest) has announced she is now accepting applications for her 1987-88 Illinois Legislative Scholarships. Each year every legislator in the State is granted the opportunity of awarding the equivalent of eight years of tuition-free scholarships to any state-supported university or college in Illinois.

Rather than award multiple-year scholarships to fewer students, Rep. Frederick indicates that she plans again to award eight one-year scholarships, so as to help the maximum number of deserving students in the area.

To be eligible for one of Frederick's Legislative Scholarships, the student must live in the 59th Dist. and either have been accepted for enrollment in the fall of 1987, or currently be in attendance at a state-supported university or college in Illinois or be in attendance currently. Virtually all of Warren Twp., except for the northeast corner, is included in Dist. 59, along with the southern half of Avon Twp. This means that students living in the following communities may make application: Grayslake, Gurnee, Round Lake, Round Lake Park and Wildwood.

Interested students living within Dist. 59 should write Rep. Frederick at her District office, 1540 Greenleaf Ave., Lake Forest, 60045, for the necessary application form as soon as possible, and no later than April 15. The completed form should be returned to the Lake Forest office and will be sent subsequently to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission for a comparative evaluation based on both scholarship potential and financial need.

Northwest Lake County Begins Special Service

Now there's an easy way to go places in Northwest Lake County. A transportation system has been designed expressly for persons 60 or older, or with a disability.

Riders can go anywhere in the four townships of northwestern Lake County on the new Northwest Lake County Special Service. They may take a taxi and receive help paying for it, or, with 24-hour notice, a lift-equipped bus will pick them up at home. The number for the Special Service bus is (800)233-0806.

Here are details on the new service:

Who can use the service? The Northwest Lake County Special Service is open to residents of the four townships in northwestern Lake County who are at least 60 years old or have a physical disability that makes walking difficult. A new registration card will be required for the service, and the special service may be used to get to a registration site. Persons may register for the service at the Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twp. offices, the An-tioc and Fox Lake Village Halls, or at any of the following locations: Cedar Villa, Round Lake Beach; Round Lake Senior Center, Round Lake Heights; Antioch Seniro Center, Antioch; or Cedar Village, Lake Villa.

Where can riders go? The area covered by the Northwest Lake County Special Service includes all of Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twps., plus the portion of Fox Lake outside the four-township area.

If a rider needs to go somewhere outside the four-township area, they can transfer to Pace's regular bus service at the College of Lake County or Lakeland Plaza in Fox Lake. Buses there will go to Waukegan, Libertyville, McHenry and many other places in Lake and McHenry Counties. All buses in McHenry County are equipped with lifts by early 1987 in order to make them accessible to the disabled.

When do they go? Taxi services in the area run from early in the morning to late at night. The Special Services bus will run between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

How much does it cost? For taxi service, users can receive a subsidy of half of the fare shown on the meter up to a maximum of $8. The rider will pay the other half of the fare. In order to receive a taxi subsidy, participants must first obtain special coupons from the four township offices or the Fox Lake or Antioch village hall.

One-way fares on the Special Service bus are 55 cents within a township and $1 between townships. The one-way fare for trips to Lakehurst is $1.50.

Area Agency on Aging will help pay the fare if a rider is over 60 and cannot pay the full fare.

How to use the service. To use the subsidized taxi service, call the local cab company up to 20 minutes in advance. The numbers are:

Antioch Twp./Antioch: Antioch Cab Co., 6 a.m. to midnight, (312)395-0481.

Avon or Lake Villa Twp.: Antioch Cab Co., 6 a.m. to midnight, (312)546-9095.

Grant Twp./Fox Lake: Fox Lake Yellow Cab, 4:30 a.m. to 11 p.m., (312)587-2525; or Lake Region Cab Co., 4:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., (312)587-7257.

To use the Special Service bus, call (800)233-0806 one day in advance.

For more information on the Special Service, call Pace's Paratransit Div., (312)364-PACE.

Renowned Outdoorsman To Instruct Nature Course

John Gans, Alaska Div. director of the National Outdoor Leadership School will be the senior instructor for a special program at Ryerson Woods, Saturday, Feb. 7. Sponsored by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist., the National Outdoor Leadership School (NOLS) and Friends of Ryerson Woods, the program aims to answer questions about how to travel safely and competently in the back country during any season of the year—having fun while having minimum impact on the environment.

Gans is a graduate of NOLS' Africa Program and became a certified NOLA instructor in 1981. He has been involved in NOLS' Wyoming, Alaska and Baja, Calif. programs. He is currently involved in land use plans for the Chugach, Talkeetna and Matanuska Moose Mountain Ranges, the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge, and Prince William Sound. Gans kayaks on Class IV water and rock climbs at a 5.8 level.

"If you have ever wished that you could make the transition from car-camping or hiking on nature trails to

Wilderness travel, we hope you will attend this program," said Maxine Hunter, chairman of Friends of Ryerson Woods. "This is not a 'survival course'; it is a 'how to' course—how to avoid crisis and how to enjoy backcountry travel."

Lake County residents Skip Atwell and Roy Gromme will serve as faculty members together with veteran NOLS instructor Anne Werner, and outdoor educator Stan Treadway.

Advance registration for the Friday lecture and Saturday workshops is required. Call the Edward L. Ryerson Conservation Area at (312) 948-7750 to register. Ryerson Woods is located near Deerfield, on Riverwoods Rd.

Lake Forest Symphony Goes Beyond The 3 R's

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081

In sports it is said, "It ain't over 'til it's over!" Well, football is finally over; the favored team won the Superbowl and the first half of the game was more exciting than most Superbowl games. "Ho-hum." Now that all the "hype" is over the winner is John Madden. Need any more be said?

Two championship Antioch Basketball teams, St. Peter's and Antioch Upper Grade School, will be going "head to head" in first round action at the annual Antioch Upper Grade School Invitational Eighth Grade Basketball Tournament at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 28. The St. Peter's and AUGS eighth grade teams each won first place in their respective conferences this year. In addition the AUGS team is undefeated. These same boys as seventh graders also went undefeated. The highlight of this season was their defeat of perennial powerhouse Oak Crest of Zion at the Oak Crest Tournament. Also playing on Jan. 28 are Emmons vs. Round Lake at 5:15 p.m.; Lake Zurich vs. Oak Crest at 7:15 p.m.; and Lake Villa vs. Westfield at 8:30 p.m.

The tournament will continue Jan. 29 with semi-final games. The consolation and championship games will take place on Jan. 31. Admission is 75 cents for students eighth grade and under and adults $1.50.

In other school news—At a special meeting of the Grass Lake School Board on Jan. 6, Don Grob was appointed to the board. Also at this meeting the Citizens' Advisory Committee presented a report. At the regular board meeting on Jan. 13 a resolution of intent to sell working cash bonds in the amount of $250,000 was passed. Anyone wishing further information may call the school at (312)395-1550.

On another note the Brass Quintet from the Lake Forest Symphony led by Nick Drozdoff presented a unique "Five Alive With Brass" program to the students of Antioch Grade School. Incorporating classics, jazz, ragtime and "Big Band" numbers with musical education and audience participation made for a fast-moving musical experience. Said one student, "They sounded so good, I thought it was a record!" Thanks to the PTO which underwrote the program, our children are broadening their education beyond the 3R's.

To Save A Life Or Not To Save A Life

by GLORIA DAVIS

The supposed exchange of arms with Iran for American hostages is still in the headlines.

Much of the media and many citizens, including a lot of Reagan backers, are upset basically with the fact that we had preached to the world "Terrorists shall not be dealt with!"—and we obviously unjustifiably did.

But according to the erstwhile Paul Harvey, "American Presidents have been ransoming American citizens ever since this country was formed. In the late 1700s George Washington paid the government of Tripoli $1 million for three American sailors."

That was war, you say, and the same rules don't apply in wartime since the basic rule during any conflict is that of self defense, kill or be killed!

But times have changed, the invention of nuclear weapons has just about outlawed the kind of war the world had known up until 1945.

Terrorism is today's war so why does the theory or immediate retaliation draw so much criticism?

Remember how the rest of the United Nations denounced our bombing of Lybia. Show me that fine line between the

When I Think About It

Harvey goes on to say that today the value of that ransom would erase a goodly part of the U. S. 1987 deficit.

No one ever reads about Washington being castigated for paying this ransom, but then Ben Franklin, the publisher of the magazine of the day, "The Saturday Evening Post" was one of George's buddies, so probably very few people ever knew about the situation.

There were no righteous Dan Rathers or Sam Donaldsons who not only think that the PEOPLE have the right to know everything that happens in their government, but who have the available mechanics to let the world know everything that they do and then some.

Ever since the Lindbergh baby's kidnapping, objective authorities and most people have backed the "tough love" principle of taking a chance with one life today to discourage future kidnappings and maybe save many lives tomorrow.

It's all very well to be logical and practical when the potential victim is just a name in the newspaper. What about the potential victim and their family?

Does this form of "tough love" fall under the old "the end justifying the means" bit? What happened to the christian argument that everything possible must be done to save a human life short of killing another human being?

The argument that many MAY be saved in the future falls into the same category as the U. S.'s dropping of the atom bomb on those two cities, killing thousands of innocent civilians in order to save more American lives that MAY have been lost in the imminent invasion of Japan.

justification of returning fire for fire during a battle and retaliating against terrorism, especially since its really the only weapon that exists against it except for refusing to compromise.

That refusal could mean innocent lives lost. Retaliation will also probably mean innocent lives lost. Unlike other countries' values, in America a human life is a human life, one that no price can be set on! Is there really any difference in the long run which one or ones are destroyed?

Both retaliation and non-compromise are means to the goal of teaching such criminals that this is one time that they cannot possibly come out on top. Admittedly, there can be little discussion on the redundancy of trading arms that could destroy lives to save lives.

Just as in the text book case that shows a husband's quandry when both his wife and baby are drowning and he can only save one, any decision that saves a life, made at that point, is the correct one.

Maybe, like the call for the return of the death penalty that has been heard in many states, it's time for the good guys to take off their white hats for awhile before someone shoots them off and they, themselves to boot!

Lets face it, wars are no longer fought like they were in the days of the Light Brigade when brave men marched in lines into enemy fire to almost certain death.

God gave us the brains and an inbred sense of self preservation so that we'd use it.

As Dr. Albert Schweitzer said, "The man who has become a thinking being feels a compulsion to give to every will to live the same reverence for life that he gives to his own."

Park Happenings

Director of Antioch Parks and Recreation, Glenda Tomaschik, has announced the near completion of the Santa letters for 1987. There are approximately 100 out at this time being written by volunteers.

Volunteers for 1987 were Pete Thelen, Elaine Ofstedahl, Vicky Bock, Sara Laurssen, and Doris Erickson. Many went to the public service office to finish up the last of the mail.

A very special thank you goes out to Carol Kube, Debbie Gerritsen and the many people at the Antioch Senior center who took a large load off of the project by consistently working at the mail. Without them the 2,500 letters would not have been finished by Christmas Eve!

Thank you also, to all the anonymous donors who shared the Christmas Spirit with the many needy persons who had sent letters. They made many people very happy on Christmas Day.

And last but not least, the great donations that were received to help fund the project were greatly appreciated. Thank you to K and M Printing and Capital Leasing for their toy donation, the Antioch VFW for $50, Antioch Travel for $10, and the lovely Russ Fairchild for his generous $100 contribution. These donations "helped" fund the project. Without such donations the project would have to be abandoned.

Thank you all for your generosity.

The letter that came the furthest was from Italy, in Italian, and the one that took the most time to do was one sent in Japanese, and the lovely Kitty Burns from Pickard China was able to translate and write back a letter written to a little girl in Wheeling. There were a few in Spanish and one in a language not yet determined.

As usual, there were a few from adults expressing desires, fears and wishes, along with a few confessions. It was interesting as usual, and very gratifying. The only loose ends are a few letters and the need of more money to finish the funding.

Requests Help

Volunteers are needed to help with the Fourth of July project. Anyone interested can call Glenda Tomaschik at (312) 395-2160. Pictures and information of historical value are needed for the celebration. If anyone has any historical memorabilia, please drop it by the Parks office, located at 874 Main St. This is the 150th anniversary of Antioch's founding. A great celebration is in order.

What's Going On At MEG?

A decision by Sheriff Robert Babcox to cut back two deputies from the North Shore Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) and to form a departmental anti-drug unit underscores a problem that sooner or later crops up in the case of every elite or special purpose unit of government.

That is that the intent and purpose of the organization comes under question by one or more of its sponsors. In this case it's Sheriff Babcox who informed the MEG board, composed of police chiefs from 10 member Lake County municipalities, that he is withdrawing two of the three personnel Lake County has provided since joining the drug fighting agency in 1983.

Babcox was vague about reasons for the cutback, probably intentionally and undoubtedly for good reason. For the record, the Lake County sheriff said the cutback is prompted by "some law enforcement demands" and "budget constraints."

At this point, there is only conjecture as to why Sheriff Babcox has trimmed his MEG support. (There still is one deputy assigned to the undercover police agency.) One of the reasons could be that the sheriff is concerned with the growing detachment from the support units with which MEG operates. As an elite undercover agency, MEG has to perform the complicated and dirty task of fighting drug pushers independently and clandestinely. There is a fine line, though, between the operation as an elite undercover agency and an organization that answers only to itself. Who are MEG agents responsible to? As a practical matter, no one.

Right or wrong, perhaps Babcox's decision has raised a question about MEG operations that needed to be asked. Put simply, is MEG doing the job it is supposed to be doing? Further, is MEG doing the job properly and legally?

Time will tell whether Sheriff Babcox is a single voice or whether he is on the cutting edge of an inquiry into MEG operations. There can be little doubt that there is a place and a need for the elite undercover police organization to support the regular law enforcement apparatus in the battle against drugs. As is apparent, however, the agency cannot conduct its business anonymously forever. Sooner or later it has to answer as best it can in the cold harsh light of public inquiry. That time is at hand.

Keep Tavern Hours Uniform

Fox Lake officials have a golden opportunity to send a clear signal that the community is determined to shuck its old "Saloon City" image. Village trustee Walter Kubalanza is spearheading a drive to reduce hours of taverns with 4 a.m. liquor licenses. His colleagues should support the effort.

Kubalanza isn't on any axe-swinging crusade to wreck the Fox Lake tavern industry, once heralded in Guinness Book of Records. He merely wants to cut back on the closing time to coincide with closing hours in nearby villages and unincorporated areas. Kubalanza points out correctly that the closing time differential invites traffic in local taverns that frequently results in police action. We agree with his reasoning that police activity could be reduced with a uniform closing time, thus saving money for taxpayers.

To be sure, Fox Lake councilmen aren't going to plunge into reckless reform. They have provided for a two-month study period to give the ample tavern owners' lobby time to speak out on pros and cons. Strangely, Dr. William Dam, Fox Lake's energetic mayor with a healthy vent for bringing about reform, has taken a soft stance on the hours cutback proposal.

For the sake of public safety and economy, tavern closing hours should be uniform. We don't think anyone is going thirsty if Fox Lake's taverns have to close at 2 instead of 4 a.m.

Preserving The Seal

State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis (R-Zion) is dead serious about plans to run for mayor of Zion. She underscored her determination at an open house Saturday, Jan. 24, for voters.

One of the things—perhaps the main thing—that triggered her candidacy was the widely publicized effort of an atheist to force the City of Zion to eliminate a Christian symbol from its official seal which the atheist maintained violated the separation of church and state.

Senator Geo-Karis will be running on a platform of donating her time and legal talent to protect the city seal. The indefatigable public official also has a well-defined program for other civic advances. Local politics notwithstanding, we think efforts to preserve the city seal in its original form transcend local issues. Consideration of other freedoms come into play in the Zion case, among them being freedom of choice and religious freedom. No matter how the election turns out, we hope the people of Zion are able to keep their seal intact.

Softball Emporium Opens All Sorts Of Possibilities

by BILL SCHROEDER

If Otis Carter has his way, Grayslake will become the softball capitol of the midwest—or maybe the western hemisphere.

Otis is the advancement for Softball Cities, Inc., and right now he is trying to convince the city fathers that a cornfield at the corner of Center St. and Atkinson Rd. would be an ideal spot for a softball complex to rise.

As the picture unfolds, a Softball Cities layout basically is a tavern surrounded by four softball fields. The idea is that you can enjoy watching your choice of four games from a comfortable stool while quaffing your favorite beverage. There aren't any mosquitoes to slap. All the seating is indoors. No fuss, no muss. The players will have the added incentive of playing for a live audience. Carter promises fathers and mothers among the player group that a family atmosphere will be maintained.

Mayor Ed Schroeder attested that village trustees will maintain an open mind about the project that is certain to create growing interest from fans and players alike. Playing "tavern softball" has always held a certain fascination for both amateur athletes and over-the-hill players. Here's a new twist to a time-honored pastime.

KILLER CATS—An ever-growing cat population is giving naturalists cause for alarm. They feel that the wildlife population is threatened by more and more cats running at large.

Your columnist isn't laughing. Our meek, mild loveable KayCee in the house is a tiger when she takes to the outdoors. Illinois has an estimated five to six million cats with about three-fourths of them in rural areas where cats are free to exercise their hunting instincts.

Baby rabbits, squirrels and birds are easy prey for a stalking cat. Experts say being hungry has nothing to do with a pampered pussycat's delight in hunting. They seem to be intrigued by catching animals. That's our KayCee.

TIME FLIES—We always wonder where all the years are going when we hear about a friend like Jerry Kaires retiring. Jerry left the faculty at Round Lake High at mid-term and is heading for Florida.

Jerry's got a few years on this writer, but we followed his athletic feats in high school and at the University of Illinois where he was an outstanding baseball player. We didn't get to know him personally until he decided to give up pursuit of a big league career for teaching. He was a great teacher, wonderful with young people because of the positive example he set. We wish him well in the Sun-belt.

IN THE RACE—Speculation on this page some months back that former Congressman Donald Rumsfeld will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination has been confirmed by associates who said that he will formally announce no later than Memorial Day.

We were delighted to see Rumsfeld in the race because of a conviction that he will not only make an excellent candidate, but that he would be an outstanding president.

Looking at this outstanding American's background, a pathway toward the White House emerges that covers every step of his life, even including his gracious acceptance of an invitation from a young newspaper editor who had the job of getting an outstanding speaker for a Labor Day patriotic rally a long time ago.

Keep an eye on Don Rumsfeld.

Letter To The Editor:

No Action Taken

Editor:
As one of the Dist. 5 County Board member representatives, I feel it is imperative that you are aware, and most critical that you understand the facts of a very important issue that has been a direct source of concern to you—landfill hearings.

These are to consider two distinct and separate issues, which are as follows:

A 10-year-old existing Grayslake landfill, A.R.F. (A.R.F. Landfill Corp.) has petitioned Lake County for permission to expand their operation.

A separate and unrelated corporation, Waste Management, is seeking permission to construct a resource recovery (incinerator) and associated landfill on property immediately south of the A.R.F. Corp.

In October, the County Board voted in favor of settling a $60 million lawsuit concerning 2,100 acres in central Lake County, known to many as the Heartland Property. But, because the property of the two petitioners lies within and adjacent to the Heartland property, I think it has caused much confusion.

The highlights of the negotiated Heartland agreement, ones that I support are the benefits to the county, and to you, of lower density and more stringent control governing the property in the future. Prior to the county settlement, the property was annexed to Round Lake Park at a density of approximately 15,000 dwelling units. After our settlement, the property density was agreed to be 5,000 dwelling units.

As mentioned before, since Waste Management's property is located in the Heartland, and language about their application, if filed, was contained in the initial agreement, they are included in the final settlement.

However, following the public hearings as required by law, nothing in the agreement restricts the County's rights and responsibility to approve, disapprove or approve subject to conditions on each separate petition.

No action has ever been taken on these petitions... in any shape or form.

At this time, I have not voted for or against either of the proposals.

Only after all information and testimony at the public hearings is submitted and reviewed, will any action on these petitions be considered by the County Board.

I urge all interested persons to attend the public hearings on these matters. The A.R.F. Landfill Corp. hearings commenced on Monday, Jan. 19 in the County Building in Waukegan. The Waste Management hearings commence on Thursday, Feb. 5, at 9 a.m. in the Tenth Floor Assembly Room of the County Building in Waukegan.

Used Properly, Metal Is Safe In Microwave

One of the most controversial topics concerning the microwave oven is whether or not metal is safe in the microwave. Microwave and More, a mail-order company specializing in microwave cookware, offers an explanation and some advice.

equal size. Wrap one in aluminum foil (it's really okay). Wrap the second one partly in foil. Leave the last one alone. Cook all three potatoes in the microwave for five minutes. What happened? Okay, now you know that metal reflects microwaves.

product says "microwave-safe," whether it has metal or not, do not use it. They have several microwave-safe metal utensils in their catalog that they rate as top quality. These range from an egg cooker that cooks hard-boiled eggs in the shell, to a grill for lamb chops and sausages. For more information on microwaving, and a copy of their newest catalog, send a postcard to: Microwave and More, P.O. Box 60930, Rochester, N.Y. 14606.

In the meantime, remember these basic tips. Only use products that are "microwave-safe." Remember that metal acts like a mirror to microwave energy; it reflects it. Never let metal touch metal. If metal is used accidentally, and arcing occurs, turn off the microwave immediately.

Registration for Westosha SHARE will be held from Jan. 31 to Feb. 7, from 9 to 11 a.m., at Christ's Lutheran Church on Hwy. 50 in Paddock Lake.

Focus On Food

Basically, the microwave oven is a metal box with a magnetron located at the top, sides or bottom. The magnetron "broadcasts" microwaves into the cavity of the oven. These waves do not penetrate metal. When microwaves come in contact with metal, they are reflected just like a mirror reflects light waves. They cannot escape.

When microwaves come in contact with water, fat or sugar, they cause these molecules to vibrate rapidly. The microwaves have now been converted from radio energy to heat. Therefore, "made for the microwave" cookware that contains metal is 100 percent safe. But the experts at Microwave and More caution: Never use a microwave without food or water (exception is warming browning grills) because there will be nothing to absorb the microwaves. They will "zap" all over the cavity, eventually doing damage to the magnetron.

Try this experiment: take three potatoes, preferably of

So what about those awful noises and flashes of lightning you've heard about (better known as "arcing")? When microwaves hit metal, particles that are separated by air, the energy is converted from invisible microwaves to a spark. That's what "arcing" is. Think of it as thunder and lightning. It's harmless because it is contained within that metal box.

Want to try another experiment? Crumble up a piece of aluminum foil and turn on the oven for 30 seconds. Fourth of July! So why is it dangerous? Here's a perfect example: You want to thaw a frozen dish, so you take it directly from freezer to microwave-plastic bag and "twistem" too! Sure enough, the metal "twistem" causes arcing, the arcing sets fire to the wrapper, the flames cause enormous combustion, and your microwave explodes right through the roof. Hmmm—so is metal safe?

The experts at Microwave and More suggest the following rule: Unless the

OmniMax Theater Offers Exciting Canyon Ride

By now, perhaps, there has been enough local snow and cold weather to stimulate travel plans. We have experienced winter temperatures averaging nearly 10 degrees above normal, while Europe and Russia shivered through opposite extremes. Nature has means for climatic balance on a planetary basis.

As opposed to climatic changes, a new experience is being offered at the OmniMax Theater, in the Space Center of Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. It is an exciting historical recounting of "Grand Canyon, the Hidden Secrets," beginning Jan.

30. This 37-minute trip is depicted on a five-story domed screen, 76 feet in diameter. Three hundred and thirty-four reclining chairs provide overhead viewing and have accommodated a half million since its inception on July 1. OmniMax is the best attended and most advanced theater of its kind among 11 in the U.S. The roar of the river and the tiny scraping movements of a centipede can be clearly heard. Audio seems almost harsh, but so was life in the 227-mile Grand Canyon, which plunges a mile into the earth's surface and houses the variable raging and peaceful combinations of the Colorado River. ## Snow King Will Tower Over Winter Carnival

Two highlights of the Woodfield Winter Carnival II, to be held at the mall in Schaumburg during the first week in February, will be the Snow Ball, and the completion of the world's largest snowman.

The Snow Ball, social highlight of the Greater Woodfield Winter Carnival, will be held Saturday, Feb. 7, from 8 p.m. to midnight, in the shopping center.

Festivities will include dancing in the Marshall Field Court to the music of Dr. Bop and the Headliners, Chicago's premier rock n' roll oldies show band, playing hits from the Beach Boys to the Supremes.

Guests will be greeted with the live music of the Harper College School of Music upon arrival, and enjoy the timely renditions of the Duane Landini Trio, and the mystique of a table-top magician.

Lucky guests will be eligible for door prizes, ranging from a Delta trip to Florida with an Alamo Rent-A-Car, to a black fox fling, courtesy of Just Furs, and a 14K gold necklace and bracelet from Sears Woodfield.

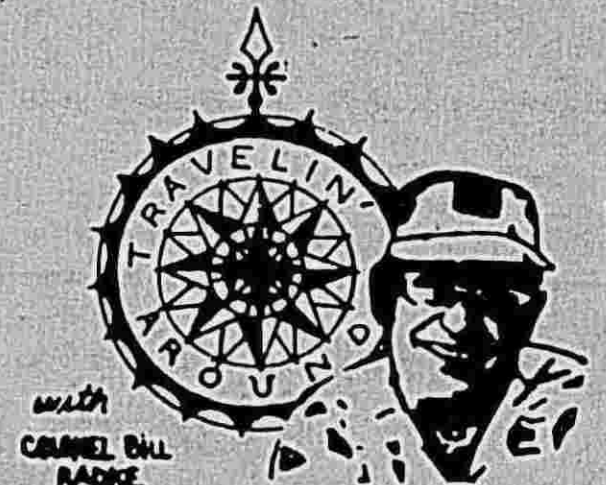

Following dinner, Snow Ball goers are invited to sip a complimentary Winter Warmer of coffee and Tia Maria or Haagen Daz Liqueur, or a Snow Ball Cooler, with Haagen Daz Liqueur on the rocks, all served with cinnamon, chocolate sprinkles and whipped cream.

Tickets for the ball are $30 and may be obtained by calling (800) 624-8326 in Illinois, or (800) 847-4849 in surrounding states.

Bright and early on the morning of Friday, Jan. 30, 15 fraternity brothers from Michigan Technical University will arrive at the Schaumburg Marriott Hotel to construct the World's Largest Snowman for the carnival.

Armed with 75 feet of scaffolding, 450 feet of snowfence, 1232-gallon trash cans, 10 coal shovels, five machetes, and front-end loaders, these rising stars in engineering will attempt to build a snowman that will surpass in size, last year's awesome creation, which stood 32 feet on a base that was 55 feet in circumference.

Snow King is scheduled to be completed on Monday, Feb. 1 for the beginning of the week's festivities. Snow King is expected to be viewed by tens of thousands of adults and children at the Schaumburg Marriott, weather permitting, throughout the carnival which concludes Feb. 8.

Ingle Sets Skiing Goals For '88 Winter Olympics

At the very young age of three, Lake Villa resident Dave Ingle, now 18, began in pursuit of his present day hobby and someday hopeful career, skiing.

Ingle, a 1986 graduate of Antioch High School, and son of Blake and Connie Ingle, is currently rated among the top 25 skiers in the nation.

CLC SPORTS NOTEBOOK

By John Phelps

Ingle, who also has a younger brother Glen, 16, who races, was rated 14th a year ago. Now that he is 18, Ingle competes in a tougher group than last year with the oldest in his group being 24. Finishers are then categorized by the completion of each race and rating sheets are prepared.

Ingle said skiing is his No. 1 priority. "Skiing is the most important thing to me right now. My parents are fully supportive, and I have them and my sponsors to thank. It takes a lot of time and hard work, but most importantly, I enjoy it," Ingle said.

One of Ingle's current goals is to make the Central-Aid-Nor-Am Skiing Teams and then the 1988 Olympic team.

To reach those goals, though, there are several steps which still must be cleared.

Ingle presently is a member of Team Wilmot, coached by Rob Larson and Grant Brown. Next, he must make the U. S. Development Team's three divisions - A, B, or C. Ingle would have to climb the ladder, hoping to become one of the six members on the A squad, who in turn participate in the Winter Olympics in Calgary, Canada.

Ingle's interest in skiing can be traced to when he was three in Colorado and later when he skied in Michigan.

Ingle attends the College of Lake County, where he played soccer for the Lancers. Ingle started playing soccer at age six, just after skiing. But soccer, though is strictly a hobby.

For it is skiing which is where his goals of becoming a professional are. But if the professional circuit is not realized, Ingle will then resume his studies in New Mexico.

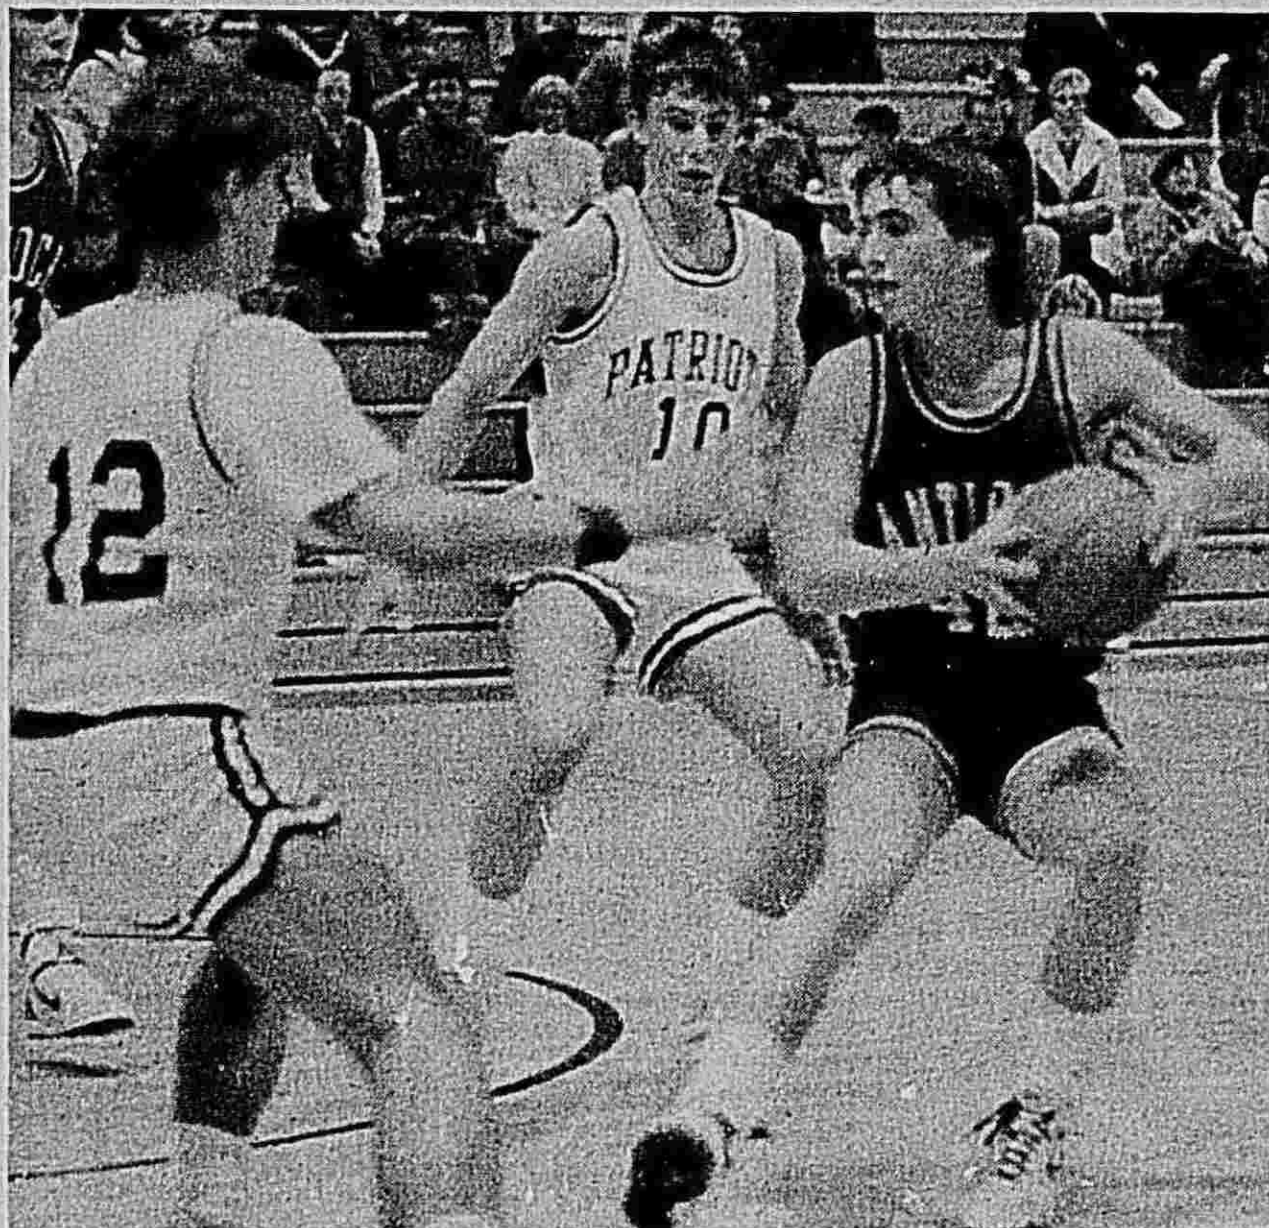

Helping Ingle along the way are equipment sponsors including Dynamic Skis, Look bindings, Nodica boots and Scott poles and goggles.

Although probably a bit young to recall the Olympic heroics of France's Jean-Claude Killy, Ingle said he likes the style of Yugoslavian skier Rok Petrovic.

CLC Athletic Director Frank Minnerly said he is pleased the Grayslake school can be a part of Ingle's career.

"I am very happy to have had Ingle as part of our athletic program. He has the potential to be extremely successful in his sport and we wish him the very best," Minnerly said.

Maybe, with a little bit of good fortune and continued dedication on the slopes, that success will take Ingle to Calgary, Canada and an Olympic appearance.

Can Johnsbury Stop Grant's Giants?

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Johnsbury basketball coach Jeff Lewistown got the win he needed.

Now the question is: can the Skyhawks play even with the Northwest Suburban conference's elite?

under first-year coach Lewistown. The Skyhawks pulled off the win with a combination of strong bench play, clutch free-throw shooting and taking control of the game in the second and third quarters.

"We're not a big team, but Johnsbury's bench with a big part in the hosts win. "Everybody came in and played their roles well. That's good coaching," he said.

Szat had hurt Grayslake with inside baskets in the first half for 12 points, but fouled out after scoring just one hoop in the second half. Frank Husak also fouled out.

Sub Chris Bonus came in and hit five-of-seven fourth quarter free throws to keep Johnsbury ahead. As a team, Johnsbury made 12 of 17 from the free-throw line in the fourth quarter.

"The key to the game was our defensive intensity. Our players had a lot of floor-burns," Lewistown said.

Another key was Johnsbury's dominance in the second and third quarters. Ahead just 9-8 after a sluggish first quarter, JHS outscored the Rams 14-8 in the second quarter for a 23-16 halftime bulge.

"Their guards were collapsing and filling in the lanes," Groth said of Johnsbury's rebounding edge.

Andrew Flood did most of Grayslake's first half scoring, popping in 12 of the 16 points. Flood matched that total for the second half, finishing with 24. However, no other Grayslake player tallied in double figures.

Turnover problems plagued Grayslake in the third quarter. Four straight led to a two-minute drought and Johnsbury built up a double-digit lead. When Ed Nicols sank two hoops, Johnsbury led 35-22 with 1:23 left in the third quarter.

A hoop by Flood started Grayslake off on a rally at the end of the third quarter. Another Flood basket and one by Butch Lenoir and three free throws trimmed the gap to four.

Johnsbury countered with a Nichols basket and another by Chris Diedrich on an out-of-bounds play and the lead was back up to eight, 39-31.

Game Of The Week

Perhaps the toughest test yet for Johnsbury will come Jan. 30 when it travels to Grant to face the league-leading Bulldogs. The game, with a 7:30 p.m. start, is Lakeland Newspapers' game of the week.

"This was a key game," Lewistown said after his forces downed Grayslake 49-42 last week. "Grant will be real tough but this win gets us to .500 (3-3) in conference," Lewistown said.

Lewistown must find a way to stop Grant's one-two punch of Don Kiesgan and Ron Richford. Not many people have, as Grant is 6-0 in league play and 14-2 overall. Grant will have a decided height advantage, as Johnsbury's tallest player is 6'5" Ron Szat.

Johnsbury will be coming into the game off a win which improved its mark to 6-8

I like to think of us as a team with a Protestant work-ethic. If we continue to work hard, good things will come," Lewistown said.

Johnsbury led by as many as 13 points in the middle of the fourth quarter. Grayslake rallied, cutting the lead to four at 35-31. Grayslake coach Greg Groth said he felt the flow was going to the Rams.

"I thought we were playing well and we had them on the run. They just wanted it more than we did," Groth said.

Groth credited John-

Giving Her Best

Carmel Seeks Second

When you're in a league with a team ranked in the top 10 in the Class AA rankings, it would not be hard for a basketball team to concede first place.

But not if you're the Carmel Corsairs.

Coach Frank Belmont's team has an opportunity to show St. Patrick just what it is made of when the two teams clash in an East Suburban Catholic Conference game Jan. 30. Carmel, 6-2 in ESCC play, trails St. Patrick by one game and both teams are behind state ranked St. Joseph.

Carmel is 10-7 overall after a 67-54 win over Joliet Catholic last week. After facing St. Patrick, Carmel hosts Deerfield Jan. 31.

"We absolutely cannot afford to slip back. We're beginning to make some strides and we still consider ourselves very much in the running in the league race," Belmont said.

The Corsairs' coach said he expects physical games from both opponents. Carmel will have to control the rebounding if it is to come away with two home victories, Belmont said.

"Deerfield is a big, physical team that has been making strides for improvement over the past two weeks," Belmont said.

Carmel has been improving as well, winning two of its last three games by cutting down on turnovers.

"We've cut down on turnovers to the point where we're committing just seven or eight a game," Belmont said.

Against Joliet Catholic, the Corsairs benefitted from a clear 34-20 edge in rebounding.

Rob Graham and Scott Stahoviak did most of the scoring damage inside, scoring a combined 42 points. Stahoviak had 22 on nine field goals and four-for-seven from the line while Graham had five field goals and 10-for-12 from the line.

Carmel also received strong play from the supporting cast of Abrey O'Bryant, Steve Bruns and Chris Knight, Belmont said.

"We played eight people and played eight people a lot. That was one of our best bench games of the year," Belmont said.

Carmel started slowly, as poor shooting led to an 11-10 deficit after one quarter. But Belmont noticed something different about his team's slow start from the field.

"Before, if we started shooting poorly it affected the other areas of the game.

Against Joliet, the other areas actually improved," the coach said.

Carmel led 31-29 at halftime but trailed 41-40 after three. The visitors then outscored the Hilltoppers 26-15 in the fourth quarter to record the home win.

Girls Host Lake Forest, Battle League Leaders

Mundelein's girls basketball team will have a chance to view the top and the bottom teams in the North Suburban Conference in its next two games.

First, the Mustangs host Lake Forest Jan. 29. Two days later, they play league leader Libertyville in an away tilt.

Last week, Mundelein continued its .500 season by splitting two league games. Mundelein edged Niles North 43-42 but then lost to Warren 54-40. The split left Mundelein at 10-11 overall, 7-7 in the NSC.

Against Warren, a poor start help doom the Mustangs efforts.

"Warren is a good team and you can't afford to fall behind against them. They won't let you back in it," Mundelein coach Perry Wilhelm said.

The Mustangs had to get used to playing in Spaulding North School's gym as Warren's gym is being converted into a swimming pool. Mundelein fell behind 17-9 after one quarter and never really recovered. Mundelein committed 10 first-quarter turnovers, resulting in nine Warren points.

The visitors fell behind even further in the second, trailing 31-17 at halftime.

Mundelein came to within six early in the second half, as Susan Musselwhite started the half with three straight field goals.

Warren recovered, though, rebuilding the lead to 14 after three quarters, 45-31.

Mundelein was led in scoring by Musselwhite's 17 points and Rachel Lackie's 12.

Against Niles, the contest was not decided until the final ticks were ticking off the clock. Lackie canned two key free throws to preserve the thin one-point win. Lackie led the Mustangs with 13 points while Kathy Orr and Susan Musselwhite had 10 apiece.

Mundelein led 13-7 after one, but Fenton regrouped and trailed 25-19 at halftime. Mundelein and Fenton played even in the third quarter, but the Mustangs came through in the game-deciding fourth quarter.

Dow-Jones Soars As Dollar Dives

The past two weeks were marked by a roaring stock market and a diving dollar.

The Dow Jones industrial average broke 2,000—a record—and then went on to 2,100. Simultaneously the U.S. dollar fell to a record post-World War II low against the Japanese yen and continued to decline against the West German mark.

The dollar's decline means that more U.S. goods will be sold abroad. That will preserve jobs here. But it also means that we will have to pay more for foreign goods.

From here on, the connections among the stock market, the economy and the world currencies become as complex as the relationships in a Woody Allen movie.

American stocks more affordable.

THE DOLLAR

Meanwhile, the U.S. Federal Reserve has been following a policy of cutting interest rates, which is directly related to the fall of the dollar. The Fed has several objectives:

—Stimulating the U.S. economy. Lowering the cost of borrowing and doing business in the U.S. will encourage domestic spending and investment and thereby create more jobs.

—Stimulating the world's economies. The U.S. wants other countries to lower their interest rates to get their economies moving, so they can buy more goods—preferably from us.

—Reversing the trade deficit. When U.S. interest rates decline, our investors look for investment alternatives abroad. Like anything in limited supply, increased demand—even for currencies—raises prices. As the currencies of foreign countries rise, they will be encouraged to import more—again, we hope, from us.

We've followed this strategy because the U.S. wants to reverse its crippling balance of trade without imposing specific trade restraints. It was the record high value of the dollar in February 1985 that triggered our record trade deficits in the first place.

Uncle Sam should be the winner in this complex web of economic relationships. However, there is one great fear in this scenario—inflation.

Some analysts also fear that the continuing war between Iran and Iraq could disrupt the world oil supply, leading to a price rise that would affect all sectors of the economy. However, there are enough alternative oil and energy sources that whatever happens in this war is unlikely to lead to a significant price rise. Oil will stay down for the foreseeable future.

YEAR-END INDICATORS

This week's December economic reports from the government indicate that recession is a greater concern than inflation.

—The gross national product. Surprising many analysts, the Commerce Dept.'s preliminary estimate of GNP (Gross National Product) growth during the fourth quarter was 1.7 percent, making the 1986 growth rate less than three percent.

—The Consumer Price Index, the major measure of inflation, rose by 0.2 percent in December. The inflation rate for 1986 was 1.1 percent, the lowest since 1961. Energy costs declined by 19.7 percent, in 1986, with gasoline prices dropping by 30.7 percent.

—Housing starts in December rose 13.7 percent from November to an annualized rate of 1.82 million. This was the largest monthly increase since December 1985.

—The manufacturing sector also showed improvement. Industrial production rose by 0.5 percent from November and by 0.2 percent from a year ago. Industrial capacity utilization increased to 79.6 percent from 79.4 percent in November.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

—Savings. According to the weekly national Meyers Report survey of bank rates, yields on certificates of deposit again declined at many banks and savings institutions.

Six-month CD yields fell at 17 percent of the institutions surveyed; only three percent posted increases. Ten percent of the institutions offering five-year CDs posted lower yields, while three percent had rate hikes.

Yields on Treasury instruments have continued to drop since the year began.

—Loans. Interest rates on consumer and business loans also fell. Mortgage rates declined, with the average 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage carrying a rate of 9.37 percent, down from 9.46 percent last week. Of the lenders surveyed, 32 percent lowered their rates, while two percent showed increases. The average adjustable mortgage rate was 7.81 percent.

Across the U.S., 48-month new car loans held steady at 10.77 percent. Rates were higher on 36-month auto loans, averaging 10.64 percent, up from 10.63.

Home-improvement loans nationwide dipped to an average 12.73 percent this week, from 12.79 last week.

Highland Park

In 1980, the City of Highland Park had a population of 30,611, down 5.1 percent from the 1970 population of 32,263. In 1982 it covered 12.1 square miles, had a median family income of $38,542, median home value of $124,800 and median monthly rent of $286. It had a 1982 unemployment rate of 2.4 percent with a civilian labor force of 15,487 and 379 people unemployed.

THE STOCK MARKET

The market rise is due to an influx of new capital in the market, most of it coming from Japanese and other foreign investors. They have been drawn to our market by the possibility that interest rates here will go even lower, making this a good time to buy equity investments.

The Japanese are pouring investment capital into the U.S. because American stocks are a real bargain compared with Japanese stocks. Shares in the average Japanese company are selling for 45 times earnings, while the shares of the average U.S. company sell for only 17 times their earnings.

In addition, the dollar's dive has boosted the yen's purchasing power, making

Abbott Reaps Award

Abbott Laboratories' long-standing energy-conservation program reaped recognition while it reduced fuel use and costs in 1986.

The Association of Energy Engineers honored Abbott with the 1986 National Corporate Energy Management Award. The company's energy savings totaled more than $175 million over the last five years, compared to the 1973 base year.

"Our program's success is fueled by support from all management levels," said Malcom Maze, Abbott corporate energy manager. "Methods range from turning off unused lights to using computers to monitor power for entire buildings."

Abbott's U.S. and Puerto Rican plants reduced energy use by 45.8 percent per unit of output in 1986, compared to the base year, generating more than $42.3 million in savings. The long-range goal is a 50 percent reduction by 1989.

Retirement Security Depends On Planning

by GARY S. MEYERS

The retirement years should be a time of happiness, recreation and relaxation. But for many Americans it's a time of financial worry and unrest.

"Financial planning for retirement is like running a business," said financial planner Joseph Ballarino, president of Financial Strategies Group Ltd. of Hmewood. "If a retire isn't careful, he can make poor financial choices, pay too much income tax and begin going into that retirement nest egg early."

Because most of today's retirees grew up during the Depression, many of them are leery of sophisticated investments. Often their only option for saving is to put money into a federally insured savings account. Many investors believe that this will insulate them from catastrophic economic failure. But they don't consider many other factors, such as inflation, taxation and the possibility of capital appreciation.

Experts told the Meyers Report that an effective retirement plan should include the following:

Preservation of capital. Whether your retirement is funded by savings, sale of a home or company benefits, safety of the retirement nest egg is the most important goal. Tax benefits, cash flow and appreciation should be secondary objectives for retirees.

Beware of investments that tout extremely high rates of return; the reason for the high rate is risk. "Investment returns of 30 to 50 percent are fairy tales," Ballarino said. "Generally an after-tax return of 10 percent is realistic."

Investment diversity. Retirees (especially widows who have depended mainly on their husband's income) need a mix of investments to protect themselves from loss and to provide a long-term comfortable rate of return.

"No financial plan or portfolio should be one or two dimensional," said Ballarino. "It's impossible to blend all variables of taxes, inflation, preservation of capital and growth in one type of investment."

Retirees first should establish liquid investments—savings accounts, certificates of deposit, Treasury bills and money market funds. Next, there should be life insurance. Finally they can invest in stocks, mutual funds, tax-exempt municipal bonds and real estate.

A financial adviser. While professional financial advice is recommended, retirees should maintain complete control of their own investments. Do not give a fast-talking investment advisor power over your money. Instead, choose someone to advise you—but make the decisions yourself and keep the investments in your name.

Financial advisers come in all shapes and sizes—insurance agents, bankers, brokerage firms, accountants, tax and estate lawyers, investment counselors and financial planners.

Look for someone who has technical training and professional experience in taxes, cash management, investing, and estate and retirement planning. He or she should understand the sophisticated array of financial products available in the marketplace.

Finding the adviser whose talents and resources best fit your requirements may take a real investment of your time and effort. Ask business associates, friends and family for names of competent advisers. Professional organizations and licensing agencies also may be able to provide referrals.

For a list of registered financial planners in your area, write: International Assn. for Financial Planning, Suite 120-C, 5775 Peachtree, Dunwoody Road NE, Atlanta, Ga., 30342.

Financial priorities: To avoid the pitfall of depleting your retirement nest egg through speculative investments, experts advise retirees to set financial priorities and review them each year.

Retirees should make a financial blueprint for short- and long-term needs. Good financial planning requires you to look five, 10 or even 20 years ahead and ask how you want to be living in the future.

Antioch Aims To Erase First Loss To 'Stangs

Although the game was played more than a month ago, Antioch basketball coach Don Zeman can remember it as though it was yesterday.

Antioch visited Mundelein for a North Suburban Conference matchup and led by 18 points at one juncture early in the game. But Mundelein recovered, erasing the deficit and won the league tilt 56-54 in overtime.

"That definitely will be on our minds," Zeman said of his team's upcoming home game against the Mustangs Jan. 30.

In addition to revenge, the Sequoits will be looking for their first two-game win streak of a so far frustrating campaign. Antioch is 3-14 overall, 2-8 in the NSC, after splitting league games last week. Antioch lost to second-place Stevenson 60-49 but bounced back to beat Niles North 57-52.

Mundelein, meanwhile, appears to have found the touch, winning three of its last four NSC games. The Mustangs took home cooking to heart last week, beating Fenton 65-60 before topping Zion-Benton 56-45.

"We feel lucky we beat them the first time. Antioch is a much improved club," Mundelein coach Dennis Kessel said.

The double dip weekend brought Mundelein to within one game of .500 in conference action, 4-5 and three games of the break even point overall, 7-10. That bodes well for the home stretch, Kessel said.

"The kids have a lot more confidence now. I feel much better about my team," Kessel said.

Antioch will be looking for varying defense from the Mustangs.

"I expect to see a lot of different defenses and maybe a box-and-one on Wells (Tom)," Zeman said.

Against Stevenson, Antioch fell behind 18-8 after one quarter and could not make up the difference against the Patriots. Wells was Antioch's lone double-figure scorer against Stevenson, with 16 points.

The scoring was much more balanced against Niles and that proved to be the difference, Zeman said. Wells had 20 points, and was aided by Rich Korjenek's 14 points and John Mehnert had 11.

"It's been a long time since we have had three people in double figures and that helps," Zeman said.

Rebounding dominance also was a big plus for the Sequoits, one area where Antioch has fallen short this year. Paul Anderson had 10 rebounds and Mehnert eight as Antioch won the battle of the boards 32-23.

Antioch led throughout the game, building up a 17-point cushion in the third quarter. Niles began to rally at the end of the third, trimming the lead to three points in the fourth quarter.

But the Sequoits held Niles off and preserved the win.

Antioch enjoyed one of its best shooting nights of the season, hitting on 26 of 52 shots, 50 percent. On all games, Antioch is shooting just 38 percent.

For Mundelein, the secret against Fenton was a strong third quarter which broke open a 30-25 halftime lead. The Mustangs won the quarter 14-5 for a 44-30 lead after three. Fenton won the final quarter, but Mundelein kept its lead.

Women Aim For Momentum

by JOHN PHELPS

The College of Lake County's women's basketball team will be hoping to keep their league momentum going when they play at Waubesa Feb. 3.

The Lancers, 6-8 overall, improved to 5-1 in the Skyway Conference with a convincing home win over rival Morton, 67-44, last week.

Both teams started out tentatively, but with early pressure and tenacious defense, Lake County converted on several steals to open up a commanding lead. Lancer forward Karen Herrmann, a Libertyville product, scored 19 of her game-high 24 points in the first half, enabling CLC to obtain a huge lead. Morton had cut into the lead, down 26-16 with 5:26 left in the first half. But CLC erupted, going on a 18-3 run and had a 44-19 bulge at intermission. The Lancers were never in doubt, using putting on the defensive pressure and scoring on various shots in the second half. CLC was outscored by a slim 25-24, but used the big first-half lead to coast in.

Besides Herrmann, others in double figures were Wendy Christina, who had 14 points and JoAnn Hanhebrauck had 12. Kelly Halkyard added eight.

"We're really coming around and have an excellent chance to win the conference. First and foremost, we have Waubesa Tuesday," coach Chuck Schramm said.

NSC Superintendents Nix Any Realignment Plan

About this time of year, athletic directors are busily putting together schedules for the upcoming school year. And this is when conferences can realignment moves for enrollment, transportation, or philosophical reasons.

Such was the case for the North Suburban Conference, which elected to stay the same.

At least that's the word from the NSC superintendent's meeting. The school chiefs voted not to realign the conference.

"The conference will stay intact," North Chicago Community High School Supt. Ken Bond told his board of education.

But that does not mean the conference could not change soon.

Fenton and Libertyville were reported to be considering moving out of the NSC for different reasons: Fenton for travel and Libertyville for the big time Central Suburban League.

Although the moves did not happen this time, a member of the realignment committee said Libertyville could move on its own.

The last change in conference members came when Warren and Antioch joined the league in 1983.

A personal note: some 10 years ago, the NSC was a farflung league, stretching from Zion and North Chicago on the east to Crystal Lake and McHenry on the west. As a Crystal Lake manager back then for the underclass basketball teams, there was nothing like awaking at 6:30 a.m. on Saturday mornings for a two-hour bus ride to Zion. That nonsense ended in 1978 when Crystal Lake split into South and Central and the Fox Valley Conference was formed. Now, the longest ride between schools is 30 miles, saving school districts money and athletes time. Perhaps such a move by the present NSC may not be such a bad idea.

The best thought on the "Stuper Bowl:" watching last year's game on the VCR instead of sitting through another route.

Notes: Jamie Harrington, son of Avon Twp. Clerk Virginia Harrington, is studying offers for the upcoming football season. But he's not your basic canned coach: Harrington's Loyola Academy squad won the Prep Bowl in November, 1986. He is a local product, graduating from the first Carmel High School graduating class.

Warren Twp. High School's wrestling team figures to be the favorite in the Jan. 30 conference meet at Zion. Coach Mark Tiffany's team was a 5-12 squad in duals last year. This year's NSC dual champs are 17-3 overall, 9-0 in league duals.

OVERTIME

By Steve Peterson

Kudos to area policemen who kept a vigil at area parking lots during last week's sub-zero weather after basketball games. It was quite reassuring to know that even if my Chevy didn't start in the Johnsburg High parking lot, that help was just a few minutes away.

Girls basketball teams are having to get used to an unfamiliar looking gym. For Warren is using the Spaulding School North gym, featuring metal backboards and a portable timeclock. The Blue Devils often get early leads as the opposition has trouble adjusting to the gym. It also gives timer Elmer Stone a new challenge—using a digital computer system without being able to actually see the score. Stone has been known to program a tune or two in addition to the buzzer into the system. Now if he can program Warren's fight song and the national anthem, then it would have the atmosphere of home.

The other day, I took the opportunity to test the new three-point play that exists in college basketball. After a College of Lake County game, I looked for a friendly looking basketball, toed it up with the brightly-painted blue line and tried a few.

After a few misses, I "found" the touch, swishing several in a row. That led me to the conclusion that if your friendly neighborhood sportswriter can sink the shot, then it definitely is too short for future NBA players. Then again, I'd be glad to team up in the same backcourt as Michael Jordan.

Lancers Seek To Continue Their League Win Streak

by JOHN PHELPS

The College of Lake County's men will be hoping to tighten up the Skyway Conference basketball race when CLC hosts Elgin Jan. 29. Tip-off time is 7 p.m.

CLC, 12-8 overall and 4-2 in the Skyway, will be coming off a close league win over Wright, 83-81 last week.

"This was a big win for us, because theoretically, Wright was the team to beat in the conference. Now they have the same record as us and if Elgin loses, things will tighten up," CLC coach Bruce Smith said.

Lake County's Wright, Terry, exploded in the second half against the Rams. Wright scored 19 of his game-high 21 points in the second 20 minutes. At one point in the second half, he popped in 12 points in a short span of just three minutes. The explosion from the first-year player out of Waukegan East proved to be the key turn around for the game, as CLC gained a lead it would never surrender.

The Rams had obtained a 36-32 halftime lead, extending it to nine points early in the second half. Then Terry Wright put on his show, and with just under three minutes left, CLC found itself ahead by six. Dave Sitz put the game out of reach, nailing a hoop with under two minutes to play. Wright was forced to foul and Mike Curley and Joel Elfering canned six of eight free throws to preserve the lead.

Don Gunther played one of his best all-around games in a Lancer uniform, popping in 17 points, grabbing nine rebounds and collecting two steals. Sitz finished with 14, while David Tucker and Todd Gordon contributed 11.

After beating Wright, CLC thumped Morton 83-66.

The Lancers struggled in the first half, clinging to a 29-27 lead at intermission. However, CLC once again proved dominant in the second stanza, outscoring Morton 54-39 to gain the 17-point triumph.

Wright had hit the hoop in fine fashion, finishing with 20 points. Gunther had 14, while Sitz added 13 and Tucker 12.

CLC shot 45 percent for the game, connecting on 35 of 78 shots. Morton shot just 38 percent, hitting 25 of 66 shots. Lake County won the battle of the boards, outrebounding Morton 56-33.

"We should have been up by 15 at halftime, but when it was crunch time, we really turned it on," Smith said.

County Board Factions Gear Up For '88 Battle

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

In 1988, 12 of Lake County's 24 County Board members will be seeking reelection in the March primary.

The present board is polarized between Bob Neal's party regulars and a coalition of Norm Geary's Independent Republicans and John Balen's Democrats. In 1984, the Geary-Balen faction elected Dist. 3 Rep. Jim LaBelle of Zion to the County Board chairmanship. But LaBelle's vacillating leadership alienated his original supporters. Last December, Bob Neal's party regulars reelected Chairman LaBelle over the opposition of the Geary-Balen coalition.

Dist. 3 Rep. Neal of Wadsworth has become the defacto leader of the party regulars following the death of Dist. 6 Rep. Glenn Miller of Long Grove and the election defeat of Dist. 5 Rep. Bob Depke of Gages Lake. Neal is also chairman of the Lake County GOP organization.

Dist. 4 Rep. Norm Geary of Grayslake has served on the county board for 22 years. Geary was county board chairman from 1976 to 1978. He is the most visible leader of the Independent Republican bloc. Geary has been a sharp critic of the regular GOP organization controlled by Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox and party chieftain Bob Neal.

Dist. 2 Rep. John L. Balen of Waukegan furnishes the leadership for the small Democratic bloc on the County Board.

Neither the party regulars, the Independent Republicans nor the Democratic bloc have much respect for Chairman Jim LaBelle, who has the backbone of a chocolate éclair. In two years, LaBelle will probably become a walking political obituary. All these party factions are concentrating on the 1988 primaries in order to secure a majority on the county board. Past elections indicate that county board incumbents are highly vulnerable in elections. In the 1986 primaries, five out of 10 incumbents seeking reelection were defeated for renomination.

County board representatives have six areas of potential vulnerability: (1) If they don't care enough about their jobs, and can be criticized for such faults as absenteeism; (2) If they don't respond to the interests of the people in their district; (3) If they are corrupt; and (4) If they are bunglers or poor performers on legislative issues; (5) Longtime representatives may suffer from the "Ron Coles Rule of Incumbency." Former Lake County Chairman Ron Coles contends that entrenched incumbents must make unpopular decisions that create many political enemies. Coles claims, "Your friends usually forget, but your enemies always remember." (6) County board members are low-visibility public officials. With the exception of their immediate families, most voters don't know who are their county board incumbents. How many of you can name the President of the United States? How many of you can identify your four representatives on the Lake County Board?

How many of you know the geographic boundaries of your county board district? The average person casts his vote for the unknown candidate on the basis of ballot position or a popular name in a county board election. Most people don't understand the responsibilities of the county board nor comprehend the issues confronting our representatives.

Some Athletes Make Grade As Democrats

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

There are some athletes with Democratic inclinations who have sought public office. Sam Huff was a celebrated linebacker for the New York Giants and the Washington Redskins for 13 years. In 1970, Huff attempted to unseat West Virginia Congressman Robert H. Mollohan in the Democratic primary. The former football star distributed autographs by the hundreds, using a photograph of himself suited up in Redskins gear.

Steinke On Politics

Huff also had the active support of the late Vince Lombardi, the ex-Green Bay Packer coach who then directed the football destinies of the Washington Redskins. Lombardi didn't just politely endorse Huff. He addressed two fund-raising dinners for the renowned linebacker. Huff himself was a legendary figure in the Mountaineer state, because of his football stardom at West Virginia. Neither his football prowess nor Lombardi's charisma could be translated into votes for Huff. Representative Mollohan blitzed Huff in the primary, and won reelection to Congress.

The late LaVerne Dilweg, Marquette All-American and a Green Bay Packer star, was elected Democratic Congressman from Wisconsin's 8th Dist. Dilweg served one time, but was defeated for reelection in 1944. Democratic Congressman Morris Udall of Arizona performed on the cage floor of the House, playing for Denver Nuggets in 1948-49. Udall was Jimmy Carter's major opponent for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

Last year, Thomas McMillen, 34, was elected as a Democratic Representative from Maryland. McMillen made his fame in 11 years in the National Basketball Assn. playing for the Buffalo Braves, the Atlanta Hawks, the New York Knicks and the Washington Bullets, who play in nearby Landover, Md. He was also an All-American for the University of Maryland and a member of the U.S. team that lost the gold medal in a controversial game in the 1972 Munich Olympics. But besides his basketball skills, McMillen was a Rhodes scholar.

Ken Bowman, a former Green Bay Packer center and now an attorney, was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Wisconsin State Senate in 1976. Bowman joined the Packers in 1964, during the Vince Lombardi era, and played through 1973. Pat Jarvis, a former Atlanta Braves pitcher, served as the Democratic sheriff for DeKalb County in Georgia. Jarvis is best-known in Chicago as the pitcher off whom Cubs great Ernie Banks hit his 500th home run. Mickey Owen may be better-known around Springfield, Mo., as the Democratic sheriff than as a catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Owen is best remembered for a pitch that he didn't catch. In the fourth game of the 1941 World Series with the Brooklyn Dodgers leading the New York Yankees 4-3, Owen was charged with a third-strike passed ball on what would have been the final out of the game. The Yankees went on to score four runs in the inning and beat the Dodgers 7-4.

Former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott served a couple of terms as sheriff of Camden, N.J. Walcott is not the state's boxing commissioner. The most prominent Democratic jock is Bill Bradley. He was a basketball All-American at Princeton in the 1960s and an NBA star with the New York Knicks. The former Rhodes scholar once considered returning to Missouri to run for state treasurer. But Bradley decided to capitalize on all those years of free TV publicity in the New York area and got elected to the U.S. Senate from New Jersey in 1978. Last summer, Bradley was one of the principal architects of the new tax reform law. Next year, "Dollar Bill" Bradley may try to double-dribble into the White House. (Last of a series.)

Geo-Karis Says Information Is Key To Lower Interest

Giving the public access to credit card rates of all issuing banks and businesses in the state could be the best way to resolve the issue of high credit card interest rates, Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) said.

The 31st Dist. senator, in a letter to incoming State Treasurer Jerome Cosentino, said she feels publishing the interest rates would make issuers more competitive and serve to moderate rates without jeopardizing any Illinois businesses or jobs. She asked him to put together a list of rates charged by all credit card issuers in the state and to make the list available to the media and to libraries, so that the information would be readily available to consumers.

"There is strong public sentiment for placing strict controls on credit card rates, but I feel such a move could cause some businesses and banks to stop offering credit to their Illinois customers, perhaps even to shut down businesses in the state," Sen. Geo-Karis said. "It seems to me the best solution to the problem is to give consumers access to information about interest rates charged by various firms, so they can 'shop around' for the best deals.

"I see no reason to go after credit card issuers with a big axe that could hurt Illinois companies and result in a loss of jobs in our state," she said. "Pressure from consumers looking for most favorable rates would help to bring rates down without interference of state officials or the General Assembly."

Winter Outdoor Shows Highlight Summer Fun

There are many interesting short trips and visits available this time of year. Coupled with trip planners in the form of public outdoor and travel shows, attendees will find plenty to do nearby.

A vicarious visit to most anywhere can be experienced at the Chicagoland Sport Fishing, Travel and Outdoor Show. Opening Friday, Jan. 30 at O'Hare Expo Center in Rosemont, visitors have 10 days to cover 700 exhibitor booths. It's more than a one-visit show. Of these, 385 displays relate to travel. .160 of them to Canada. They furnish unlimited information regarding most directions of interest. Show opens weekdays at 1 p.m., Saturdays at 9 a.m. and Sundays at 10 a.m. Admissions are $5.50 and $2 for children six to 12.

This will be followed by the 19th annual RV, Van, Camping and Travel Show, also at O'Hare Center and running 10 days from Friday, Feb. 13. All RVers are travelers, and many points of interest may be explored, along with vehicles and supplies.

The Illinois Conservation Dept. advises that its Winter Carnival, scheduled for Rock cut State Park near Rockford, has been delayed by tough sleddin' weather. Suffering from a lack of snow and ice, new scheduled dates are for the weekend of Jan. 31. Details are available by calling (312) 917-2070. This is a fine demonstration of winter recreation and one of Conservation's most popular special events.

The Midwest Boat and Resort Show that formerly ran at Arlington Park Expo Center, has also moved to Rosemont's O'Hare Expo and opens Wednesday, Feb. 25, for a five-day stay. This is basically boats, but does feature a few travel destinations as well. With 69 million U.S. boaters of record using some 10 million pleasure craft, the show audience grows as does the number of midwest boaters.

For the second year, the Woodfield Visitors Bureau is presenting an enlarged, 10-day Winter Carnival. Opening Friday, Jan. 30, it will run through Sunday, Feb. 8. A huge snowman is featured. .32 feet tall, if arrangements can be made for sufficient snow. Ice and snow sculpting are also planned. A treasure hunt, skiing and snowmobiling displays and opportunities combine with the spirit of the winter season. To complete the escape from winter blahs, 23 area hotels offer discount rates during the festival. More than half include use of indoor pools and health club fitness rooms. For a "Snow Survival Kit" and a carnival schedule, call (800) 624-8362. Reservations for jazz concerts and the dinner dance, "Snow Ball," must be made in advance.

Farther north, in Wisconsin, the Manitowoc Maritime Museum has moved into a new $2 million building within sight of its old location at 75 Maritime Dr. A private, non-profit museum, it presents the Great Lakes boating story, with interesting, educational displays and now offers a research center for students and others interested. It's part of Wisconsin's "East Coast" tourism development centered around Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

Motor Club Recognizes Four Towns

Four Lakeland area communities will receive awards for outstanding pedestrian safety achievements in AAA-Chicago Motor Club's Pedestrian Protection Program.

More than 23 states and 2,600 cities submitted 1985 pedestrian safety records for evaluation by the national panel of judges. Each entry is compared with other communities of similar size.

Pedestrian safety citations will go to Grayslake, for nine years without a pedestrian fatality; Lindenhurst, eight years; Vernon Hills, seven years; and North Chicago, one year.

AAA-Chicago Motor Club president and board chairman Nels L. Pierson congratulated the winners. "Since 1937, when this program began, pedestrian deaths have declined 46 percent while motor vehicle registrations increased 483 percent and the population grew 87 percent," he said.

To further the cause of pedestrian safety, AAA-Chicago Motor Club provides municipalities with "School's Open" posters each fall, school safety training materials and awards, and low-cost drivers' education, bicycle safety and child safety teaching aids.

Dr. Sellke is past president of the Lake County Dental Society and is a member of several other professional dental organizations, including the American Assn. of Orthodontists, of which he is a diplomate. The dentist is a graduate of the University of Illinois Dental College, where he also received his master of science degree. # Gymnasts Head For Top PADDOCK LAKE — On Jan. 17 the Central High School gymnastics team participated in the Kenosha Bradford Invitational.

The meet was an individual invitational with the top eight gymnasts in each event getting medals with no team scores being kept.

Some of the state's better gymnasts were entered, which meant some stiff competition.

Three Falcons managed to place in the top eight. Deanna Zubor was second on floor with an 8.55; and Connie Kach was fifth on bars with an 8.4.

Gerri Ludwig was seventh on the floor with an 8.4, and eighth on beam with an 8.0. Just missing a medal were Kim Perks, ninth in all-around with a 7.75, and 10th on bars with a 7.75; and Val Petri, ninth on vault with an 8.2 score.

If team scores had been kept, Central would have finished second to Brookfield Central. That means the Falcons would have beat teams they have never beaten before.

Their floor team was the best one present, and that's remarkable because of all the club gymnasts entered.

Then Central gymnastics team hosted the Union Grove Broncos on Jan. 20.

Central gymnasts captured the top three spots on all the events except third place on vault.

Central senior Perks set a new school record on uneven bars as she beat Kathleen Walker's score of 8.7, set last year with an 8.8 score. The 8.8 is also a gymnasium record on bars, breaking Beth Amborn's (Waterford High School) 8.7 set this year at the Falcon Invitational.

Placing for Central in the meet were:

On the floor Deanna Zubor placed first, 8.25; Gerri Ludwig, second, 8.15; and Niko Moyer, third, 7.65;

On the beam it was Kim Perks, first, 7.95; Deanna Zubor, second, 7.6; and

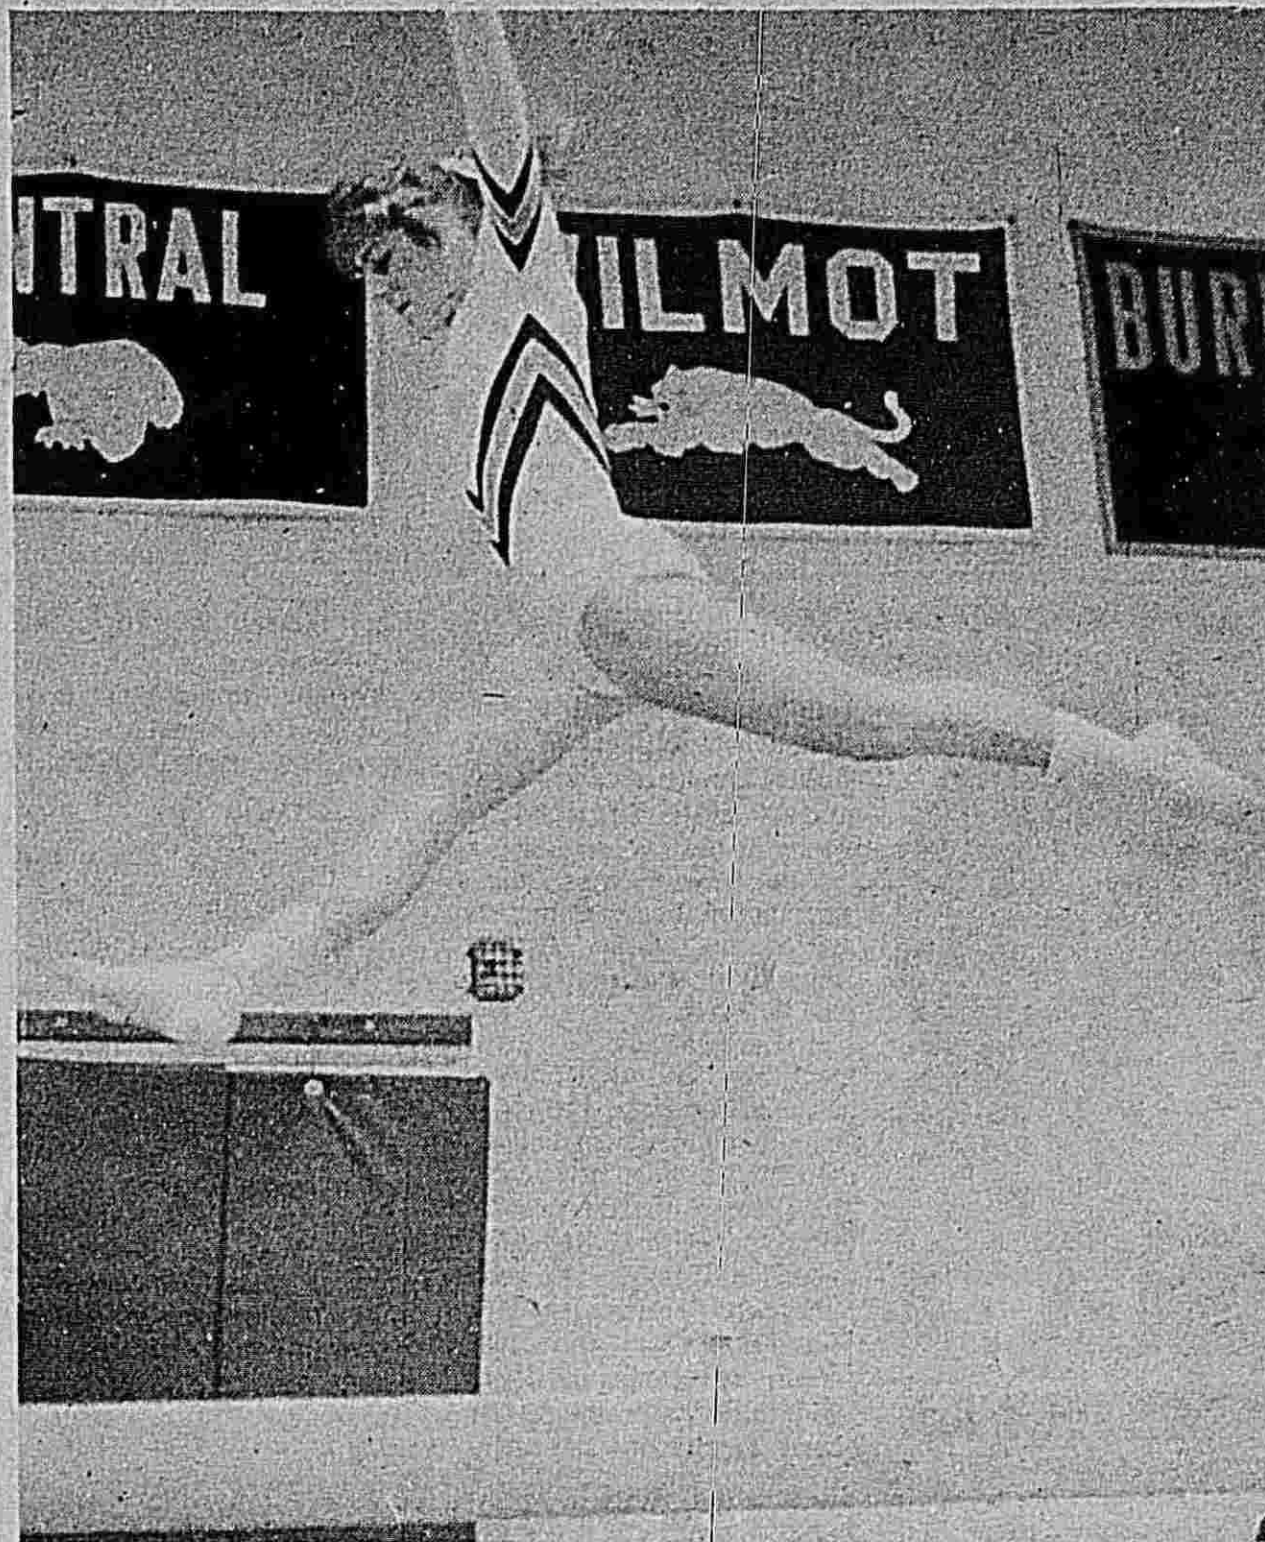

Gerri Ludwig, third, 7.5;

On the vault it was Val Petri, first, 8.45; Kim Perks, second, 8.05; and Niko Moyer, fourth, 7.6;

On the bars it was Kim Perks, first, 8.8; Connie Kach, second, 8.25; and Val Petri, third, 7.2;

The win raised Central's record to 5.0 in conference, 6-0 overall. Even though Union Grove didn't have the people to push the Falcons, they took it upon themselves not to let up and to keep up the sharpness of a good routine. The team has set some lofty goals of winning conference, placing in the regionals and sectionals, and hopefully making it to state.

Coach Bill Price had this to say: "A lack of effort is not part of team background. The Falcons have decided to do whatever it takes to achieve their goals. I believe all of their parents were proud of the effort they put forth against an outmanned Union Grove team on Parents' Nite."

Wilmot Loses, Stays In Division Lead

WILMOT — The Panther varsity cagers lost their second game of the season and first Southern Lakes Conference game, on Thursday, Jan. 22, when they bowed to the Burlington Demons, 70-61.

The loss puts Wilmot at a 9-2 overall record and a 7-1 conference record. Wilmot still leads the eastern division, ahead of Lake Geneva by two wins.

Wilmot had its largest lead, 18-12, early in the game after Kevin Heckel scored, then the lead went from one team to another the rest of the game.

Although Wilmot led early in the second quarter, 33-30, Burlington's two successful free throws gave the Demons the lead, 34-30 at halftime.

Burlington dominated the third period and when it ended still held a 46-37 lead.

The Demons surged ahead by 12 points early in the fourth and try as they did, the Panthers never got closer than eight points.

Heckel led Wilmot's scoring with 17 points, followed by Andy Brown's nine points.

Matmen Beat Badger

The Wilmot High School varsity wrestlers defeated Badger on Jan. 20, 49-12. Winning for the Panthers were Jeff Nicholl, Don Lorenz, Tim Potter, Doug Comarato, Willie Sam-borski, Mike Cudahy, Dustin Vorpahl, and Ron Benser.

The junior varsity team won, 66-12. Winning for Wilmot by forfeit were Dion Ruiz, Jim Elkins, John Elliot, Jason Wagner, Mike Benser and Greg Kuper. Pinning their opponents were Craig Beinecke, Kevin Bischel, Jesse Myra and Matt Brady.

The varsity team finished fourth at the Elkhorn Invitational on Jan. 17. Vorpahl and Ernie Robinson finished second; Lorenz, third; Potter, Cudahy and Benser, fourth and Nicholl, fifth.

The teams host Delavan at their last home meet on Thursday, Jan. 29.

Free Throw Successes Gives Wolverines Win

PADDOCK LAKE — The Falcon cagers were closing in on Waterford's Wolverines in the fourth period of a game played on Thursday, Jan. 22. The score was a close, close 47-45, when the referee called a foul, his fifth, on Central's Tim Cates.

It was Waterford all the way from that call on as the Wolverines took a sound win over the Falcons, 74-59.

Both coaches agreed that the call on Cates (questioned by some) was the turning point of the game in Waterford's favor.

The fact that the Wolverines were successful in 19 out of 20 free throw tries in the last period was another key factor in their win.

Waterford sank two free throws to tie the whole thing up at half time and the two teams traded leads during the third period.

After the Cates call in the fourth, Waterford pulled way ahead of the Falcons.

The loss gives Central a 5-6 overall record and a 4-4 conference record.

Falcon Lynn Carlson had a good night, scoring 26 points followed by Cates' 10.

Waterford's mastery of the free throw line made the difference, shooting 32 out of 38 when Central only sank 50 percent of their free throw tries, 11 out of 23.

Central High Face Challenges Of New School Year

PADDOCK LAKE—January 16 marked the end of the first semester at Central High School. It is a good time to look back and examine how the challenges of a new school year have been met.

First, the small study halls, part of Central's attempt to meet the needs of students-at-risk, have been working well. Many teachers are reporting student successes due to the new arrangement; more information will be available after semester grades have been analyzed.

Also, Central's first Academic Decathlon team entered local competition this fall. "It was a wonderful experience for the students and me," commented Mrs. Berns, adviser for the group. "Next year we will begin preparing a little earlier since the competition is so stiff." Many faculty members donated their time and expertise to help coach students for the competition.

Another first was the parent-teacher conference night held in October. Locating all the teachers in the gym and cafeteria was a factor in its success. In response to requests by many parents to repeat this event, another such conference will be held on March 9, just before the end of the third quarter.

Students will be dismissed at 12:30 p.m. that day; no lunch will be served. The conference time is set from 7 to 9 p.m. Teachers working without a contract since last August, will distribute information on that evening also.

The locks on the lockers have worked very well, thanks to student cooperation.

Finally, the new classes offered this year have been well-received. Mr. Plovovich's music appreciation class has an enrollment of 19 students this semester. He calls it a "good class and one that will continue."

Mrs. Pospisil's new creative stitchery class has also been successful: "Lifelong skills are taught and the personal rewards for them can't be counted," she comments.

Central teachers are continuing their commitment to quality education. Many are involved in night classes and other endeavors.

For example, the Science Alliance of Southeastern Wisconsin, led by Doug Thorn, Central's chemistry teacher and science department chairman, continues to meet monthly to exchange ideas to improve science education. Teachers from Racine and Kenosha Unified Systems as well as the county schools are involved.

The Art Alliance, new this year, is also chaired by a Central faculty member. It will hold its third meeting at Central in February. Carolyn Carroll, chairperson of the art department at Central and organizer of the alliance, reports that "Youth Art Month" will be discussed at the February meeting. There will also be a "paint-along" session.

The Feb. 27 in-service day for teachers, to be held at Parkside again, will follow the same general format as last year's in-service. The Regional Staff Development Center has worked hard to organize this day for the professional growth of all the school staffs involved. School will not be in session that day.

The musical fantasy "The Wiz" based on the novel "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," will be performed in Central's study hall on Feb. 27 and 28 at 7:30 p.m. Joanne Handy, the director, says that "We're blessed with a young and enthusiastic cast who are full of surprises."

The new semester was kicked off by the student council's fifth annual breakfast for all school personnel. Twenty council members gave up their morning to sleep late on Jan. 19, the in-service day, to prepare a delicious breakfast for the school staff.

Coordinating the efforts were Kamin Mahoney, treasurer; Sandra Kordecki, vice president; and Barb Anderson, secretary.

The students and staff at Central are looking forward to another successful semester.

County Board Factions Don Their Battle Gear

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

On Dec. 1, 1986 the Lake County Board reelected Chairman Jim LaBelle of Zion to his second two-year term. Robert Neal's Regular Republicans endorsed LaBelle's reelection over the opposition of John Balen's Democrats and Norman Geary's Independent Republicans. LaBelle then designated GOP regulars to chair the major committee assignments.

Dist. 4 Rep. Norman Geary of Grayslake has served on the county board for 22 years. Geary was county board chairman from 1976-1978. He is the most outspoken representative of the Independent Republican faction. Geary remains a harsh critic of the regular GOP machine directed by party chieftain Bob Neal and Sheriff Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox. Dist. 2 Rep. John L. Balen of Waukegan provides the firecracker for the four-member Democratic group on the county board. Dist. 3 Rep. Robert Neal of Wadsworth has inherited the leadership of the Republican regulars following the election defeat of Dist. 5 Rep. Robert Depke of Gages Lake and the death of Dist. 6 Rep. Glenn Miller of Long Grove. Neal's power has been augmented because he has served as Lake County Republican chairman for the past five years.

Polarization, confrontation and divisiveness has characterized LaBelle's reign as county board chairman for the past two years. Most county board representatives perceive LaBelle as a tower of jelly. All the political elements are organizing for the 1988 primary elections in order to win a majority on the county board. Twelve of Lake County's 24 board representatives will be up for election next year.

Seven party regulars will be seeking reelection in the 1988 spring primary. They include: Dist. 1 Rep. Deloris Axelrod of Highland Park; Dist. 1 Rep. Donald Strenger of Lake Forest; Dist. 3 Rep. Robert Neal of Wadsworth; Dist. 4 Rep. Jim Fields of Antioch; Dist. 4 Rep. Fred Popp of Lake Villa; Dist. 5 Rep. James E. Dolan of Libertyville; And Dist. 6 Rep. Gerald L. Beyer of Wauconda.

Three antimachine or pro-LaBelle Republicans will be on the ballot next year. They are: Dist. 3 Rep. Eleanor Rostrom of Waukegan, Dist. 5 Rep. Andrea Moore of Libertyville, and Dist. 6 Rep. C. Richard Anderson of North Barrington.

Finally, two Dist. 2 Democrats will be running for another term: Audrey H. Nixon of North Chicago and Tony Serdar of Waukegan. Serdar was a survivor of the Bataan Death March during World War II. As one political pundit observed, "The 1988 primaries will determine whether or not the county board will have leadership or Jim LaBelle again."

Foreman

Foreman Wins Top State Spot

Lake County State's Attorney Fred Foreman was elected in Chicago by the Illinois State's Attorneys Assn. to lead its membership this year. The election took place at the group's annual meeting.

"I am proud to be the first president from Lake County of this respected association. I will do my best to act as spokesman for my fellow Illinois State's Attorneys," Foreman said.

Foreman has chaired several committees and task forces for the state and is currently treasurer and a member of the executive committee of the National District Attorneys Assn.

Schedule Seminar On Trial Technique

Each judge will give his views on where cases are won and lost with respect to motions in limine; jury selection; opening statements; plaintiff examining plaintiff and the adverse witness; defendant examining plaintiff and the adverse witness; medical witnesses; jury instructions; and closing arguments.

Lunch will be served. Reservations for the seminar can be made by calling Deborah DeRue at (312) 244-3140. Cost per person, including lunch, is $15. All reservations must be made by Thursday, Feb. 5.

Geo-Karis (R-Zion) receives congratulations from Senate Republican Leader James Pate Philip (Wood Dale) following announcement of her appointment as Senate Republican Caucus Chairman. ## Avoid 'Baby Bottle Tooth Decay' Syndrome

Parents should not put a baby to bed with a bottle of fruit juice, formula, sugar water or soft drink because it can result in "baby bottle tooth decay."

According to Dr. Bernard J. Turnock, state health director, putting a baby to bed with a bottle that contains anything other than plain water can be harmful to the infant's teeth.

"While the baby sleeps, the flow of saliva decreases. If the bottle remains in the baby's mouth, there is not enough saliva to neutralize the juice acidity or sugary liquids. This leads to erosion of tooth enamel and creates the perfect environment for the formation of plaque,"

Dr. Turnock said.

Other consequences may be crooked permanent teeth, ear problems, speech problems or emotional problems.

Dr. Turnock urged parents to begin teaching their child to drink from a cup at about six months of age.

"The best way to prevent baby-bottle tooth decay is to assure the child is completely weaned from the bottle by the time he's a year old," he said.

A baby's teeth begin to grow about eight weeks after conception. By the time a baby is born, the teeth are almost fully developed. Only the enamel layer of the primary teeth continues to form after birth.

The enamel layer provides protection for the teeth, but enamel is also subject to destruction.

"A baby does not have immunity to tooth decay, even during the first few months after birth," Dr. Turnock said.

"As soon as teeth appear, they can start to decay."

Healthy baby teeth are important, as children need strong teeth to help them chew food properly and speak clearly.

Dr. Turnock recommended cleaning a baby's teeth, after each bottle or meal with a wet washcloth.

State Legislature Works For College Tuition Relief

The price of a quality education is quickly moving beyond a reasonable grasp for many middle-income families, according to State Rep. Dick Klemm. The average yearly bill at a private college is $10,199 this year, according to the College Board, and at a public university, $5,604—with increases likely to run at least five to six percent a year for the rest of the decade.

The mounting costs of educating a college-age child are further complicated by the decreasing availability of financial aid. It's harder to qualify for financial aid; there are fewer tax loopholes for saving money; and under the federal tax reform law, people will lose their interest deduction on student loans.

If a family is counting on a student loan, the higher-education bill recently passed by the U.S. Congress won't help. Formerly, students with family incomes of $30,000 or less could borrow up to $2,500 a year through the government's eight-percent guaranteed loan program, no questions asked. Now the loan limits are higher, and all students will have to prove financial need before getting any money. In addition, new borrowers will get the eight percent interest rate only for the first five years after leaving school; then the rate rises to 10 percent, non-deductible.

The Illinois General Assembly has recognized the need to help families cope with efficiently financing their children's education. The legislature has asked the state Board of Higher Education to investigate pre-paid tuition plans and to have a task force of lawmakers and state officials study the concept. The task force is scheduled to report to the Senate this spring.

In the meantime, a measure has been introduced to establish a tax-free tuition investment program for future Illinois college students. According to the bill's sponsor, the legislation presents only a framework for a tuition investment program. Details of the program would have to be filled in by lawmakers after further study.

The idea behind a tuition investment program is to encourage parents to save for their children's education. The plan would primarily help students from middle-class families who do not qualify for need-based scholarships, but who need direction in saving for their children's futures. Many middle class families, with incomes between $25,000 and $35,000, often tread the fine line of qualifying for a scholarship and being able to pay for college themselves. The investment plan, however, would not be designed to guarantee 100 percent of future tuition payments, as does a plan approved by the Michigan legislature.

Instead of a guaranteed pre-paid-in-full tuition plan, the investment would be on the order of an IRA. Parents who choose to participate would be guaranteed a discount on tuition at the time their children are ready for college because of their prior commitment to sending their child to an Illinois college or university.

The plan, although it doesn't guarantee full tuition payment, should encourage parental involvement through tax-deferred earnings and the tuition discount, and help reduce demands on the state for scholarship money. According to the bill's sponsor, an investment pool of money contributed by parents for their children could raise more investment income than the same amount invested separately by parents.

The introduction of the investment tuition plan highlights the state's continued emphasis on the quality education for the citizens of Illinois. Parents would benefit by avoiding the financial crunch of paying-as-you-go; the state would benefit from the reduced requests for help; and ultimately, and most importantly, the students would reap the benefits of a quality education.

Selected students from participating high schools in Lake, McHenry and Cook Counties attend vocational center for half day during school.

Won't Run For County Board Seats: Officials

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

Last week, both Barbara Lumber of Round Lake and Antioch Twp. Highway Commissioner Mark Ring announced that they will not oppose Dist. 4 County Board Representatives Jim Fields of Antioch and Fred Popp of Lake Villa in the 1988 Republican primary.

Dist. 4 includes Antioch, Avon, Grant, and Lake Villa Twp. in western Lake County. It is a predominantly GOP area.

Three other prominent Lake Villa Twp. public officials have informed Lakeland Newspapers that they won't run for the county board in next year's elections. Twp. Supervisor Dorothy Thompson has stated that she won't seek a county board seat.

Thompson also asserted that she will retire from her present office in 1989. Two years ago, Thompson garnered 71 percent of the vote when she defeated then incumbent Fred Popp for the supervisor's position.

Lindenhurst Mayor Robert Ratch denied rumors that he planned to run for the county board in 1988. Ratch maintained that his professional responsibilities as a high-level executive for a major insurance company, along with his public obligations as village mayor, occupied much of his time.

Four years ago, Ratch easily defeated 17-year Mayor Ted Flanagan in a three-way contest. Ratch is seeking reelection to his second four-year term in the April 7 election.

Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer contended that she doesn't intend to campaign for the county board in 1988. Frayer asserted, "I will be supporting (incumbents) Popp and Fields (in next year's election). I think that they have done a good job." But she didn't rule out a future candidacy for the county board.

Describing herself as a political independent, Frayer admitted that she hadn't decided whether or not to run as a Republican or a Democratic aspirant for the Lake County Board.

Frayer conceded that she was "giving serious consideration" to fielding a candidacy for township supervisor in the 1989 April elections. She was appointed Lake Villa mayor in October, 1981.

Frayer was elected to the position in April, 1983, to fill out an unexpired term. Two years ago, she was easily elected to a four-year term over token opposition. Her present mayoral term will expire at the same time that Lake Villa Twp. voters will elect a new supervisor in April, 1989.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

Weekly tip: It's a time to trust your own instincts.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Things are beginning to turn in your favor. There are some personal problems ahead. But once these have been faced, you're more than half way.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Stick with your decisions regardless of who may have opinions to the contrary. Your honest instincts almost always prove to be best.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Advice flows thick and fast. But too much, too soon, can overwhelm you. Best suggestion: reanalyze all situations and follow the best course.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) A romantic relationship could become knotty before it's tied up by Cupid's bow. Disagreements can lead to new understandings.

Leo (July 21-Aug. 22) A personal relationship warms up as the two of you share more of your feelings with each other. Be prepared to move into another stage of this friendship.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Some fallout from unpleasant situations continues but at a lesser rate. Already things are clearing up. Continue to rely on your good friends.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Your energy overcomes a temporary withdrawal of support by someone you depended upon. Continue to move ahead in a positive fashion.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A new prospect holds out the promise of some exciting rewards. If you feel right about it, then go right ahead and take the challenge.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Approach the challenge slowly and deliberately. This gives you time to be sure about your facts before you act.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A loved one makes some difficult demands that can cause problems with others in the family. A cool but loving approach calms everyone's nerves.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Expect to have to do a delicate balancing act for a while as family matters compete with business demands for your time.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Expect a job situation you thought was resolved to flare up again as an old adversary gets support from unexpected sources.
